The Dr. Knox School's Inter-house track meeting is being held today at the school, and here girls aged 15 and under, start out on the 75-yard dash. Winners of the contest will represent their school against other schools, in the city park for an inter-school tournament later this month.

Manitoba Becomes Heir To More Taxes, Services

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba residents fell heir to a legacy of higher taxes and more government services Thursday as Manitoba's longest legislative session prorogued.

Generally conceded as one of the most important sessions in 30 years, it produced Manitoba's first retail sales tax, its first venture into medical care insurance and its first relaxation of Sunday drinking laws of the 20th century.

In addition to setting precedents, the 57 - member house added four days to the 1923 record of 74 days for the longest session in history and easily surpassed the verbiage record of 3,254 pages of Hansard, the transcript of legislative proceedings, set in 1902.

Key legislation passed during the session provided for the June 1 implementation of a five-per-cent retail sales tax.

RECORD EXPENSES

For the 10 months remaining in the 1967-68 fiscal year, the tax is expected to raise $33,750,000 to help cover the record anticipated spending during the year. Even with the tax impost, the provincial budget forecasting revenues of $333,000,000 was $1,600,000 short of the expenditures approved by the house. Last year's spending estimates were just under $300,000,000 although actual costs were slightly higher.

Bulk of the increased spending was earmarked for health, welfare and education.

Education was a source of pride and, paradoxically, embarrassment for the government.

Legislation was provided to draw school boards into larger divisions through a new foundation fund to cover school costs. It provided for the government to pay 65 per cent of elementary and secondary education costs with the balance to be raised by local taxation based on an equalized assessment. It was made applicable only to the unitary divisions.

Residents were given an opportunity in a referendum to adopt unitary divisions—and the new financing program—or retain individual districts and the old system which had local taxpayers putting up more than 50 per cent of the costs.

BRAVE FRONT DRAWS CASH

CANTERBURY, England. (Reuters)—In Britain it is legal to write a cheque on anything, even a woman's chest.

College student Michael Cain Tuesday walked into his bank, put 18-year-old Christina Davidson on the counter and pointed to the writing on her chest above her low-cut dress.

It read "pay cash five pounds ($15)." Bank officials gave him the money and stamped "paid" on her chest. The money will go to a student-run charity drive.

'Trib' Closes In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Journal Tribune posted a notice in its newsroom that it was ceasing publication with today's issue.

The notice was posted as management of the evening newspaper met behind closed doors.

The newspaper was formed March 21, 1966, from a merger of the New York World Telegram and The Sun, The Herald Tribune and The Journal-American.

The World Journal Tribune statement to the staff said:

"It is with a real sense of personal regret that I must tell you that the World Journal Tribune is permanently ceasing publication with today's issue.

"Your employment must terminate at that time."

The demise of The World Journal Tribune leaves city's tabloid the New York Post as the only Manhattan evening newspaper. The Times and The Daily News are the morning newspapers.

Vandals Damage City Equipment

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN OUTLINED TO DEFEAT FLOODING IN B.C.

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—Government officials Thursday outlined a plan to battle flooding but said they are not prepared to raid the treasury to build Fraser Valley dikes.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Kiernan made the comments at a flood preparation meeting held here.

He urged Fraser Valley municipal and dikeing authorities to organize local emergency groups within 10 days.

Although he discounted outright grants to municipalities, Mr. Kiernan said "we will help those districts that need help, but I have no blank cheque and neither does anyone else."

Under the flood-fighting plan, the Fraser Valley is divided into four sections: East, covering Chilliwack, Sumas and Kent; Central, encompassing Mission, Dewdney, Matsqui and Nicomen; North, taking in Albion, Maple Ridge, Pitt Meadows; and South, covering Glen Valley, Langley, Delta and Richmond.

A regional headquarters will be established in the Abbotsford court house.

Mr. Kiernan reported that dikes were in better condition than they have been before. He said if the water level at Mission does not go above the 20-foot mark, then there would be no emergency.

In the event that it did, special plans were being laid, including measures for evacuation of people, goods and livestock.

Job Of Keeping Power On Hurt By 'Deliberate Acts'

The City of Kelowna, through advice of city supervisory electrical employees says efforts to maintain electrical service to the city have been hampered by the deliberate acts of vandalism to city equipment.

A statement released by Ald. D. A. Chapman, chief city negotiator, states, "in attempting to move and use certain pieces of electrical department equipment last used by members of the striking union, supervisory personnel of the city have discovered several acts of deliberate malicious damage to the equipment."

Ald. Chapman did not say that the electrical workers were responsible for the damage.

In one case the emergency brake of an electrical service truck was jammed so tight it was necessary to disengage the mechanism from underneath the vehicle before it could be moved. Some of the hydraulic control circuits on an aerial ladder truck have been ripped off and a safety device has been rendered inoperative, subjecting anyone using the truck to possible bodily harm.

"This vandalism is impeding our efforts to continue to operate our electrical system in a normal manner with our supervisory staff but we know the public will bear with us," Ald. Chapman said, "now that the electrical workers have threatened to withdraw all emergency services we must keep this equipment working."

He further stated that requests for service connections and disconnections were being handled with only slight delays.

Investigation into the two incidents cited, as well as other occurrences, is under way both by city authorities and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Electrical workers picketed the front of J. W. Bedford Ltd. for about 15 minutes at 7:45 a.m. today and then left. They were picketing wires being strung onto the company property. Several union employees of the Bedford company did not cross the picket line until it was lifted.

Reports have also been received of electrical workers picketing Calona Wines Ltd., 1125 Richter St. and several other places in the city.

Up to press time today union officials were unavailable for comment.

Lynda Bird Says She's Sorry For Incident At Barranquilla

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson has expressed regret for a clash Wednesday night between her U.S. Secret Service escort and Colombian newspaper men when she arrived on a magazine assignment, but some Colombians say they will not let the matter rest there.

A reporter and a photographer for the Bogota newspaper El Tiempo said they plan to file charges of "attempted homicide, theft and destruction of private property" against the men accompanying U.S. President Johnson's elder daughter.

When Miss Johnson arrived by plane at Barranquilla Wednesday night, the newspaper men said, they were "hit and kicked by members of the escort of Miss Johnson and one of them pulled out a gun and aimed it at us." They said a camera was destroyed.

The president's daughter said at Cartagena:

Hill 881 Seized In Savage Battle

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Marines took Hill 881 North today, the last of three border peaks that have cost the marines nearly 1,000 dead or wounded and the Communists an estimated 1,000 killed in 12 days of some of the hardest fighting of the Vietnam war.

U.S. officers in Da Nang announced that the summit of the hill was occupied at 2:35 p.m. by a marine company that met only "light resistance" in the final assault. This indicated that the North Vietnamese had pulled out of their entrenched positions.

2,000,000th Visitor Quietly Slips Unnoticed Into Expo

MONTREAL (CP) — The 2,000,000th visitor to Expo 67 slipped into the world's fair grounds Thursday unnoticed in the crowd that was surging through the gates at 30,000 an hour in late afternoon.

By midnight, 198,290 had entered the site compared with the forecast of 120,550 for the day, bringing the total to 2,046,959 since opening day April 28.

An Expo official said a meeting was in process to discuss whether something should be done about the 2,000,000th visitor when operations control called to say he had slipped through about 4 p.m. Now the thinking involved some sort of ceremony to celebrate the 10,000,000th visitor.

Meanwhile, Expo celebrated its second national day by honoring the tiny Indian Ocean island of Mauritius, a British Crown colony, with a ceremony presided over by its prime minister, Sir Seewoosagur Ramgoolam, in Place des Nations, the fair's international meeting place.

Last Tuesday was Ethiopia's day, with Emperor Haile Selassie the central figure.

Next Tuesday will be Belgium's day with Prince Albert of Liege and Princess Paola attending the official ceremony.

Seven Saved Off Schooner

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP)—Seven survivors from the wrecked American schooner Danta Deo were brought to Da Nang tonight. One was a Canadian, Ed Johnson, 26 of Toronto.

The schooner was reported to have been on a scientific expedition when she went aground on a reef in the Paracel Islands about 240 miles east of this city on the northeast coast of South Vietnam.

A U.S. Air Force amphibian plane flew to the islands after distress signals were received and made the rescue.

Picked up were six adults and a child.

Earlier reports from the United States had said more people were believed to have been on the Danta Deo, on a world cruise since 1965. Initial accounts said it was believed the seven brought to Da Nang were the only ones aboard.

Youth Jailed For Extortion

VANCOUVER (CP) — Magistrate Maurice Mulligan Friday sentenced Gary Stephen Ross, 18, to one year for attempting to extort $5,000 from Frank Howard, NDP member of parliament for Skeena.

Ross, whose home is in Toronto, pleaded guilty last week. Court was told Ross sent a note to Mr. Howard in Ottawa threatening to "totally ruin" him if he did not send $5,000 to the youth in Vancouver.

Ross was arrested April 9 after a police stake-out at the post office.

De Gaulle 'Can't Bar ECM To U.K.'

LONDON (AP) — The French political leader whose forces hold the balance of power in the National Assembly says President de Gaulle will not stop Britain from joining the European Common Market.

The Daily Mail published a front-page interview with Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, former French finance minister who visited London Thursday for a conference on Britain's future role in Europe.

Giscard d'Estaing, whose Independent Republican party is necessary to give the Gaullists a majority over the combined opposition in the Assembly said:

"De Gaulle will definitely not stop Britain's entry this time. There is no doubt de Gaulle believes Britain will go in."

TRUSCOTT STAYS IN JAIL

The Leaden Life Continues

OTTAWA (CP) — The leaden prospect of continued life in prison stretches before Steven Murray Truscott.

A government-ordered study of his sex-slipping conviction at age 14 was completed Thursday when eight justices of the Supreme Court of Canada upheld his conviction. One dissented.

The majority opinion was that there were "many incredibilities" in his denial that he killed 12-year-old Lynne Harper in 1959 near the Clinton, Ont., RCAF base where the parents of both youngsters were stationed.

The federal cabinet asked for the high court opinion and the question of any further action in the case now rests there. But it is considered unlikely the cabinet would adopt any course of action counter to the majority opinion.

NO NEXT STEP?

Solicitor-General Pennell, who announced the reference to the high court a year ago when controversy was sparked by a book on the Truscott case, told reporters after the court announcement the decision "speaks for itself."

Asked what the next step might be, he said: "I'm not prepared to say now that there is any next step."

For Truscott, who has spent eight of his 22 years behind bars, this was strong indication that he will continue serving the life sentence ordered for him after his sentence of death was commuted in 1960. He is eligible for parole in about two years.

A warden at Collins Bay Penitentiary at Kingston said Truscott got the news of the decision in a telephone call from his lawyer and showed no emotion.

PARENTS TO FIGHT ON

Truscott was allowed to speak to his mother and Isabel LeBourdais, author of The Trial of Steven Truscott which cast doubt on his conviction and stirred a controversy over the case.

Afterwards he returned to his job in the prison machine shop.

Mrs. LeBourdais and his parents vowed they would continue to fight on Steven's behalf.

But the last legal avenue of appeal appeared solidly walled by the Supreme Court opinion.

In referring Truscott's case to the court, the government asked it to consider not only the trial record but such further evidence as it considered fit. It asked the court for an opinion, once this had been done, on whether it would have allowed an appeal of the case.

Mr. Justice J. R. Cartwright read the finding in the panelled Supreme Court chamber just after 10:30 a.m.

The answer of the court is that this court would have dismissed such an appeal.

33,000 WORDS

The answer of the lone dissenter, Mr. Justice E. M. Hall, was "that such an appeal should have been allowed, the conviction quashed and a new trial ordered."

It took only about a minute for the finding to be read. But reasons for the opinions totalled some 33,000 words.

Mr. and Mrs. Truscott, who have a home in nearby Richmond, Ont., were in Toronto with Mrs. LeBourdais.

In the telephone conversation, Mrs. Truscott told her son: "Keep busy, son. We're not quitting."

Mrs. LeBourdais told Steven she intended to keep a promise she had made him. She did not say what it was.

Mr. Truscott, a former RCAF warrant officer released from the service last week, said: "I'm not going to quit, by God. He said he would 'go clean across the country getting signatures, if I have to.'"

Three MPs were in the courtroom—Liberal James Byrne, Kootenay East, and John R. Matheson, Leeds, and New Democrat Stanley Knowles, Winnipeg North Centre.

Mr. Byrne said he felt there was insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction. Mr. Matheson declined comment because of his position as parliamentary secretary to Prime Minister Pearson.

ONE AGAINST EIGHT

Mr. Knowles said it was incredible that eight of the nine justices found the original judgment correct.

A MISTAKE

KINGSTON (CP) — "The Supreme Court made a mistake" — that was Steven Truscott's reaction Thursday when he heard that the court had upheld his conviction as the murderer of Lynne Harper.

The words were spoken softly and without outward emotion to Rev. Malcolm Stenborg, Protestant chaplain at nearby Collins Bay Penitentiary.

"Steven and his family had expected different news," Mr. Stenborg said in an interview later. "But the way he took it was typically Steven — he was disappointed of course, underved by the hours of waiting, but he took it in very good shape."

land ended its attempt at the halfway mark Thursday night by returning to base camp.

Its radio centre here reported today that the expedition's advance party had returned to base camp at Eureka on Ellesmere Island, N.W.T., by plane after covering about 400 miles of the estimated 800-mile trek by motorized sled.

The advance party, which had planned to return today, was forced to fly to the base camp because of bad weather.

It planned to return to the advance camp today to pick up equipment left on the ice.

The members of the expedition plan to fly to Edmonton Wednesday aboard an RCAF plane.

The Canadian members of the expedition are Pierre Drouin, 24, of Sherbrooke, Que.; Jean-Luc Bombardier, 28, of Montreal; and RCAF Cpl. John Austad, 35, of RCAF Station Lancaster, near Edmonton. Drouin and Bombardier are knownled engineers and Cpl. Austad is a survival and rescue expert.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Shopping—just to look, not buy—in the city's all-white South End, scene of violence during demonstrations three weeks ago.

King's brother, Dr. Martin Luther King, in Louisville for Derby Week, said earlier he and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference "are 100 per cent behind using every means of persuasion" to get the city to pass a law banning racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing property.

The march will occur about the time the Derby-eve crowd exits from Churchill Downs, also in the southern part of Louisville. If police approve the marchers' application for a parade permit, they must supply enough officers to keep order and reroute traffic.

Stronger Viet Cong Attacks Threaten U.S. 'Pacification'

SAIGON (AP) — Intensified Viet Cong attacks are seriously battering the South Vietnamese government's latest pacification program, raising the spectre of another failure in Saigon's efforts to win over the countryside.

In the first four months of this year 300 Communist attacks on pacification teams killed 218 government workers and wounded 299. Another 51 are missing and presumed captured. Several hundred government troops deployed to protect the pacification teams have been killed.

In 1956, there were only 25 attacks against a pacification program. The scaled-down, more aggressive program launched this year appeared to be catching on. Captured Communist documents made clear that revolutionary development teams, the pacification forces now are known, were No. 1 targets.

Pacification programs during the last eight years failed, primarily due to poor planning and military reverses. Should the latest plan fail with some 440,000 U.S. troops in the country, the effect in Vietnam and on Washington could be serious.

BOYS SELECT A FATAL PET

LONDON (AP) — Two boys snatched a little white guinea pig from an agriculture ministry laboratory outside London Thursday night.

TRAGEDY IN CALGARY

Capitals and People Alike Come to Aid of Dying Girl

CALGARY (CP) — The roll of people and institutions rallying to help Chelley Lynn Stanway, a 13-year-old Calgary girl who is dying of bone cancer, expanded Thursday to include three governments.

The Saskatchewan, Alberta and federal governments set wheels in motion to find suitable air transportation to fly Chelley Lynn to New York, where she may be able to find a cure for her condition at Park Medical Clinic.

The girl needs special arrangements to fly to New York because the seriousness of her illness makes it impossible for her to travel in normal fashion. Chelley Lynn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stanway, have told her within the last few days that her condition may be fatal unless treatment not available in Alberta can be obtained. The youngster has accepted the news bravely.

As she lay in her bed in the living room of the Stanway home Thursday night while a reporter talked to her and her family, Mr. Stanway turned to Chelley Lynn and said: "We're going to win, aren't we Honey?" She smiled and replied: "Yes, Dad."

The family — Mr. and Mrs. Stanway, Chelley Lynn, her 18-year-old sister Selma and six-year-old brother Mark — is determined not to give up.

Charges Of 'Police State' Nonsense, Says Regina Chief

Regina's police chief Thursday said charges that Canada's chief constables want to create a police state are nonsense.

Chief A. G. Cookson, in New Westminster for the 10th annual convention of the Western Police Chiefs' Association, was referring to a brief released in Ottawa April 26 over the signature of Vancouver Chief Constable Ralph Booth. The brief, which contained a recommendation that police be allowed to enter and search private property without a warrant, drew heavy fire from many groups, including members of Parliament.

At Bradenton, Fla., Dr. Carl Coppolino went to prison Thursday after Judge Lynn Silvertooth refused to throw out his second-degree murder conviction and life sentence. The judge also refused to grant Coppolino, 34, a new trial or declare him a pauper so the state would be required to pay the cost of an appeal.

The British government is going to try to buy 3,560-foot Mount Snowdon, highest mountain in Wales and a big tourist attraction. The mountain and 21,000 acres around it are owned by Sir Michael Duff, who wants more than $4,000,000 for it.

President Franz Jonas of Austria will be the first of at least 10 international dignitaries to visit Toronto during the remainder of Centennial Year, it was learned Thursday.

Health Minister MacEachen has replaced Works Minister McIlraith as government House leader, a spokesman in the prime minister's office said Thursday. Mr. McIlraith, who has handled the delicate job of arranging the Commons' business schedule since 1964, gave it up so he could devote more time to running the public works department.

One of the largest marijuana seizures in Vancouver history has resulted in four arrests with bail set Thursday at $40,500 for three of the four, all accused of trafficking. Magistrate Gerald Levey refused to set bail in the case of John Mather, 25, because the accused was committed to high court trial on another trafficking count two weeks ago.

A tentative federal-provincial agreement on a shared-cost program for anti-flood dikes on the Fraser River was reached Thursday by Energy Minister Peplin and Ray Williston, B.C. lands and forests minister, in Ottawa. "We've agreed on the formula, but it still has to be approved by our respective cabinets and treasury boards," Mr. Peplin said after discussions at the annual Canadian Council of Resources Ministers.

Upper Canada College is an independent boys' school, established in 1829, situated in residential Toronto and having 38 acres of grounds. The school also owns a country property at Norval of 400 acres. There is a Preparatory School for boys in Grades 2 to 8, with a Grade 9 class for advanced pupils, and an Upper School for boys in Grades 9 to 13.
The school is primarily a day school, but has boarding houses. The preparation of the boys in a school situated in a big rapidly expanding city means that competition to enter is keen and academic standards high. Boarders coming from small towns outside Toronto gain the academic advantages of studying in a good city school.
For further particulars write to either the Headmaster of the Preparatory School, or the Headmaster of the Upper School.

Retail Merchants Group Wants Poll On Hours

Wednesday-Closing Opinion Asked For In Questionnaire

A poll is to be taken of downtown merchants to see if they can agree on store hours.

The Kelowna Retail Merchants Association, through its executive members, will send a questionnaire to merchants asking if they favor unlimited store hours, wish to remain open Wednesday afternoons or close for one full day.

Several weeks ago, the city council passed a bylaw permitting unlimited store hours, change from a previous bylaw which forced stores to close at noon on Wednesdays.

Since the bylaw came into effect, some stores are still closing at noon while others remain open.

J. D. Taylor says during the summer, stores are open six days a week. When the summer hours come to an end in the fall, he says there will be little change from before "the city put its number 12 shoe in."

Mr. Taylor was representing the retailers' association at a chamber of commerce executive meeting Thursday.

He said he did not think there was as much confusion about store hours as the press would have one believe, that Wednesday was the only possible day that could confuse anyone and changes were the exception.

"ALWAYS" Asked later about confusion surrounding Friday nights, he said "that always was a state of confusion, there has been no change there since the new bylaw."

Frank Addison asked Mr. Taylor to see retailers requested their employees not to take over the empty parking lots, on Saturday. The city has recently reduced the rental fee and days to Monday to Friday, to free the space for Saturday shoppers. There has been some concern expressed that store employees might move into the empty stalls.

NEW COLLEGE COUNCIL MEMBERS EXPECTED AT MONDAY MEETING

Eight new members, appointed to the board of the Okanagan Regional College Council, are expected to attend a council meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the board room, 1638 Pandosy St.

The members were recently appointed to the board by Education Minister Peterson, following changes in the School Act passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Contrary to a report in The Courier Thursday, Mr. Peterson will not be in attendance.

Kelowna Driver With Caravan

McGregor Rathjen of Kelowna is on a nine-month centennial trip. He is one of the drivers of the eight caravan units which will be travelling together through B.C.

A regular driver for Allied Van Lines with D. Chapman and Co. for 12 years, he is the only driver from this area selected as a centennial driver.

Drivers for the caravans were asked to apply in writing to Vancouver. Those being considered were interviewed in Vancouver and then the final selection was made.

Upon completion of training, the caravan units were then driven to the different provinces with an RCMP escort to start the tour.

The truck driven by Mr. Rathjen is one of eight that will be travelling throughout B.C. for the next nine months.

The tour began May 1 in Langley, and the caravan is now in the Vancouver area. It will then go to Vancouver Island, then the Kootenays and into the central interior.

The eight units will be in the Kelowna area in August. They won't be stopping in Kelowna because the centennial train stopped here. Stops will be made in Rutland and the Westbank area. The eight units travel together throughout the tour.

Crews Ready For Legionnaires - 400 Delegates Due In Town

Crews are busy today preparing the Kelowna Memorial Arena for the 400 delegates who are expected to attend the 28th biennial convention of the Pacific Command, Royal Canadian Legion.

The five-day convention opens at 10 a.m. Saturday with a meeting of a war and peace committee, followed by registration of delegates in the Kelowna branch Legion.

Premier Bennett will attend the official opening ceremony in the Community Theatre starting at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Lieutenant-Governor Peakes, grand president, will be a guest of honor at the closing banquet and installation of the new council Wednesday.

Other VIPs attending the convention include Mayor R. F. Parkinson; R. E. MacBeath of Moncton, N.B., Dominion president; J. C. Hall, provincial president; George Mahon, director of veterans' services; Don Johnston, Saskatchewan provincial president and Geoff Dyson, sports director.

Delegates will attend from many parts of B.C., the Yukon and the north-west section of the U.S. A total of 104 resolutions will come before the convention. All business sessions will be held in the memorial arena.

A parade to the Cenotaph in the City Park will be held Tuesday from the memorial arena, beginning at 7 p.m.

Social events, lunches, banquets and dances have been arranged throughout the five days.

Pharmacists Will Meet

Pharmacists from Kelowna, Penticton, Vernon and Kamloops will attend courses next week on new drugs.

Among the topics to be discussed are oral contraceptives, quality control, pharmaceutical literature and generic drugs.

Heading the program will be Dr. Modest Pernarowski, associate professor of pharmaceutical chemistry at the University of British Columbia and John Parker, retail pharmacist.

Courses will be held at the Penticton General Hospital, Monday, Kelowna General Hospital, Tuesday, Vernon Jubilee Hospital, Wednesday and the Kamloops Royal Inland Hospital, Thursday. Classes will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

The sessions are part of a continuing education program for pharmacists throughout B.C. sponsored by the UBC faculty of pharmacy, the UBC extension department and the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association.

Battle Of The Atlantic Will Be Remembered Sunday

The 22nd anniversary of the end of the Battle of the Atlantic will be observed in Kelowna Sunday with a church parade of cadets and wrenettes.

The Kelowna observance will be one of many being held across Canada to remember the men who fought and died in the longest battle of the Second World War.

A total of 80 youth are expected to join in the Kelowna parade, Lieut. Roy Greening will be in charge of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Grenville (senior boys). Lieut. Richard Fletcher will accompany the Navy League Admiral Stirling Corps (junior boys) and Lieut. Mary Blakeborough will head the Elizabeth Young Corps (girls).

Members will gather at the armory and parade to the Anglican Church on Sutherland Avenue at the 9:30 a.m. service. Ald. R. J. Wilkinson, vice-president of the Kelowna branch of the Navy League of Canada, will take the salute outside the church.

Other commemorative services will be held in Canadian centres, in ships, bases or churches.

In Halifax, the main western terminal for convoys carrying supplies to the United Kingdom, a Protestant service will be held in the fleet replenishment ship, HMCS Provider, while mass will be celebrated in the fleet repair vessel HMCS Cape Scott.

Canadian ships sank 27 German submarines during the war and sank, captured or destroyed 42 enemy surface ships.

Area Forest Products Firms Plan Centennial Safety Drive

Interior forest industry firms will co-operate in an extensive project as a means of honoring Centennial Year in Canada. This project, sponsored by the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association, entails each employee of its member firms successfully working 100 hours in injury free during the period May 15 to June 1, 1967.

The over-all Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association comprises 85 member companies and some 5,000 employees. The successful completion of this project would mean 500,000 man hours worked injury free.

In recent years this association has twice been awarded the National Safety Council's Association award for significant improvement in accident prevention. These awards are highly coveted internationally and have placed the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association amongst the forerunners of industrial accident control in North America.

D. W. Brookes, president of the ILMA, said recently "the combined effort of management and labor within our section of the forest industry is resulting in tremendous gains in the field of safety. The elimination of personal suffering is a rewarding proof of what can be accomplished through concentrated effort."

This centennial safety project is a further attempt to improve injury prevention activities in the forest products industry in the B.C. Interior.

Local members of the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association are: B. Ellett Lumber Co. Ltd., Beaverdell; S. M. Simpson Lumber Co., Kelowna; Olinger Lumber Co. Ltd., Kelowna; Rutland Sawmills Ltd., Rutland; S & K L., Plywood Division, Kelowna; Trautman - Garraway Ltd., Peachland, and Gorman Bros. Lumber and Box Ltd., Westbank.

Wood Ticks Still A Danger - Child Paralyzed In Valley

Kelowna residents were warned today that the danger of wood ticks is not over in the Okanagan.

A Penticton girl was temporarily paralyzed this week after two wood ticks attached themselves to her head.

Fred Alcock, sanitarian, said ticks in this area present two dangers, one of paralysis and one of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

Three years ago a Westbank child was temporarily paralyzed when a wood tick remained undetected for several days underneath her long hair. This is the only case reported in the Kelowna area in years, although ticks are frequently removed, with no paralysis occurring. A death occurred in the Cariboo area several years ago.

Mr. Alcock said Rocky Mountain Fever is 35 per cent fatal if contracted. He said his department in the Okanagan Health Unit centre in Kelowna, sent five batches of wood ticks from this area to a federal laboratory in Kamloops and four of the five, showed the presence of a low grade strain of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. No cases of the disease have ever been reported in the Okanagan.

The sanitarian advised parents to check their children for ticks after any outing in the woods. Ticks climb upwards, once they attach themselves to a human host, which is why they are usually found in the hair.

"The danger exists until the air becomes dry, usually in June, then the wood ticks go underground," Mr. Alcock said.

WELCOME TO THE PARK

Tulips and other spring flowers abound in the City Park this week, and more and more citizens and visitors alike are taking advantage of the beauty spot for a quiet moment away from the pavement of the city. The display is at the entrance to the park, and one of the first sights to greet tourists in the city.

'Confederation Picnic' Planned For City Park

A real old-fashioned picnic, a day of fun, food and entertainment, is being planned for Kelowna adults and children.

The Kinsmen Club of Kelowna will organize and operate a Confederation Community Picnic, sponsored by the city's centennial committee.

Between 7,000 and 8,000 children and adults are expected to attend the picnic in the City Park between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m., July 1.

Free tickets for food and mid-way rides will be handed out through the schools on June 15 for children in Grades 1 to 6. Pre-schoolers will receive free tickets when parents clip an application form from the Courier June 19. All age groups will be welcomed.

There will be games, prizes, a midway, food stands, races, horseshoe pitching, a pie-eating contest, box lunch and amateur night.

NOT FOR PROFIT Jim Tisdale, head of the Kinsmen committee, says 65 members of the club will be striving to make the day a memorable one. The event is not meant to be a money-making project, but is part of the centennial celebrations.

An indication of the crowds anticipated can be found in the quantities of food ordered, a boxcar-load of potato chips (300 cases), 12,000 hot dog buns, 700 pounds of weiners, 1,000 pounds of hamburger, 10,000 soft drinks and 12 gallons each of mustard, ketchup and relish.

The day will begin with a decorated bicycle parade at 10 a.m. in the City Park oval. A band will be in attendance and there will be prizes for all entries with one big prize for the best decorated bicycle.

At 11:30 a.m. the official opening will be held at the grandstand in the park. At noon the midway and food concessions will open and bingo start.

Sports events will begin at 1 p.m. with novelty races for various age groups and possibly swimming events in the Ogo-pogo Pool.

Horseshoe pitching competitions will begin at 2 p.m. with everyone welcome to enter.

Canal Survey Urged

Some 50 people attended a meeting in Vernon Thursday on the proposed Okanagan-Shuswap canal.

They represented city councils, chambers and yacht clubs from Kamloops and Salmon Arm south to Penticton.

A resolution was passed to ask the minister of highways to implement a survey on the feasibility of a canal, from the northern end of Okanagan Lake to join with the Shuswap River at Enderby.

Officials in February were studying a feasibility report made by the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act (ARDA), but the report dealt with irrigation and flood control. The survey requested now would concern a navigable canal.

Attending from Kelowna were Mayor R. F. Parkinson, Ald. R. J. Wilkinson, S. A. McQuillan, representing the chamber of commerce and Douglas Sutherland, Kelowna Yacht Club.

Child Safety Day Sunday A Reminder To 'Watch Out'

Sunday is National Child Safety Day in Canada, to call attention to the safety of children.

Ald. L. A. N. Potterton, president of the Kelowna and District Safety Council is requesting everyone to keep in mind the safety of children.

"The idea of a national safety day is to remind people everywhere to watch out for children. Each year children are killed and injured on our city streets and other mishaps and it is the responsibility of motorists and the general public to look out for our youngsters," he said.

"Children often forget the rules of safety and are involved in accidents. We as adults must do our thinking for them."

The National Safety Council says more than 2,100 Canadian children under 15 years of age are killed in accidents and about 500,000 are injured each year.

TEACH "We must teach children the importance of safety and it is everyone's responsibility around the clock to try to avoid accidents, especially with young children," said Ald. Potterton.

National Child Safety Day is co-sponsored by the National Safety League of Canada and the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

Kelowna Royal Canadian Mounted Police request motorists to observe all traffic safety laws and on Sunday be especially aware of young children when operating their motor vehicles.

Earlier Start For Festival

Because of the large number of entries in the 1967 Okanagan Valley Music Festival being held in Penticton from May 8 to 13 inclusive, the festival committee has found it necessary to add several extra sessions.

Instead of beginning on Tuesday morning, May 9, the first session will be held on Monday evening, May 8, at 7:30 p.m. when classes will begin in advanced piano, violin and accordion.

Vocal solos, ensembles and choral classes will be held from Wednesday to Saturday, adjudicated by Robert Irwin.

Mr. Irwin is a baritone of considerable acclaim and wide experience, as well as being a teacher and an adjudicator of the highest calibre.

He is now on the staff of the music faculty of the University of Manitoba after emigrating from England a few years ago.

Winning performers from all sections will take part in the Highlights Concert on Saturday evening, May 13.

One Hurt In Crash

One person remains in hospital after a two-car accident at 4:32 p.m. Thursday at Clement Avenue and Richter Street.

George Cooke, 715 Sutherland Ave., in fairly good condition with undetermined injuries in Kelowna General Hospital. He was the driver of a vehicle that was in collision with a vehicle driven by Johannes Konig, of Kelowna, according to police.

A passenger in the Konig vehicle, Perry Vanderleer, Eldorado Road, was treated and released from hospital. Damage was $600 to each vehicle.

Nora Ness, Pandosy Street, has been released from hospital after the vehicle she was driving was in collision Wednesday with a vehicle driven by Bernard Rinas, Crawford Road, according to police. Damage to the vehicles was $600.

Youth Injured At Sports Day

Donald Ivens, 16, of Rutland is in satisfactory condition in the Kelowna General Hospital after an accident at the Rutland Senior High School sports day Tuesday.

He apparently was injured when a gun, believed to be a starting gun, was discharged close to his face. He suffered powder burns.

STARTS WITH LUNCHEON

The Word Is WHITE Next Week

It will be physically impossible to walk about Kelowna next week without being aware that this is White Truck Week.

Trucks from Kelowna's new plant will decorate city streets, and every group in the community from students to businessmen, and store windows will have special placards and pictures on display. The Daily Courier will feature the company with a special news supplement.

About 200 are expected to attend a kick-off luncheon at the Bay at Anne Hotel Tuesday at 12 noon, being held jointly by the chamber of commerce and the Rotary Club.

Guest speaker will be W. D. Patterson of Los Angeles, president of the White Truck Manufacturing Co. Ltd.

Following the luncheon chamber members and Rotarians, taking as many members of their firms as they wish, will tour the White Truck Manufacturing Ltd., $4,000,000 plant on Highway 97.

"BREAKTHROUGH" J. C. Donald, secretary-manager of the chamber and the city's industrial commissioner, says the new plant represents a major industrial "breakthrough" for the Valley. He says it will bring other industries here from eastern Canada and the U.S., and evidence of this can already be seen.

"The more truck models sold, the more employment created here in Kelowna and the more dollars poured into our economy," he said. "Celebrating White Truck Week" is for everyone in town.

Wednesday has been set aside as education day when films will be shown in schools and students will be offered prizes for essays. Some 500 to 600 students have already seen the film, and arrangements are being made to show it to industrial teachers in the Valley in Kelowna Tuesday.

Thursday is merchants' day when "Kelowna Welcomes White Trucks" signs will be displayed in store windows, also pictures of the plant.

APPRECIATION "This is our opportunity to show our awareness of, and appreciation for, a new 12-month payroll," Mr. Donald said in urging retailers to use the posters printed by their association.

Friday has been named suppliers' day with suppliers from the coast, the Valley and other parts of the province visiting the plant to see what they can manufacture and supply to the new firm. "Everything from nuts to seat covers," Mr. Donald said 18 representatives have said they will come from Vancouver. The Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Commission is urging firms to attend.

The official opening is Saturday at 3 p.m. and will be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the B.C. division of the Automotive Transport Association, being held here May 12, 13.

One-Sided Petitions Can Do Much Harm

A woman's organization is currently seeking to have petitions signed, the objective being to bring pressure in the weight of names on Prime Minister Pearson so he will take every possible step towards ending the war in Vietnam.

The wording of the petition claims that a million children have been killed or wounded or burned in the war in Vietnam and that we as Canadians must share the responsibility for the suffering of these children.

It further states that Canada's greatest centennial contribution should be the support of the three-point program to bring peace to Vietnam: 1—Halting the bombing of North Vietnam; 2—Scaling down the military action in South Vietnam to achieve a cease fire; 3—Opening peace talks among those doing the actual fighting, including the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam.

The whole thing is a straight appeal to the emotions; who doesn't deplore the death or injury to children in the Vietnam war, or any other war? But the emotional appeal as presented in this case leaves no room for fairness, impartiality, logic. The petition just argues, emotionally, that because children are being hurt, the war in Vietnam must be stopped, regardless of right and wrong and regardless of anything else.

The objective of the petition is definitely and deliberately anti-American. This newspaper holds no brief for the American position, but, in fairness, it must recognize there are two sides to the question. The three objectives "to bring about peace" outlined above are anti-American. They suggest the blame, the whole blame, rests with the United States.

We would suggest that the number one clause of such a petition should read: "To persuade Hanoi to sit down at the peace table with someone, anyone."

If the petitioners are either fair or honest they will agree that President Johnson of the United States has practically crawled, indeed grovelled, in an attempt to get Hanoi to the conference table and Hanoi has consistently refused.

But, knowing this, those who prepared the petition have deliberately endeavored to place the whole onus on the United States.

Most people would be very happy to see this "non-war" ended. And that does include President Johnson. We doubt, however if it does include the authorities in Hanoi. They have not shown a great inclination to sit down at a peace table.

And, indeed, why should they when they have such petitions as this going for them in the United States and Canada? Such petitions, protests, demonstrations only serve to prolonging the war as they encourage Hanoi to stand fast in its aloof position, in the hope that the outcry at home will persuade the U.S. authorities to give in. This fact, unfortunately, the protestors do not see. But nevertheless it is there and Hanoi knows it.

The petitioners obviously are anti-American. A popular pastime today, just as being anti-British was three score and ten years ago. Anti-American and anti-Vietnam amount to the same thing these days apparently.

A few brief years ago the popular "anti" was nuclear weapons but they have faded into the background. Their place has been usurped by the Vietnam war. Assuming this conflict is settled—a most unlikely event judging from Hanoi's present stand—what next will seize the demonstrators' fancy?

The humorous magazine, Punch, summed it up with a little cartoon in a recent issue. It showed a young, bearded father in well-scooped, spider-legged trousers addressing his little son. "One day, son," says the father proudly, "all this will be yours."

"All this" is a pile of placards with anti-nuclear and anti-Vietnam slogans.

IT HAPPENED IN CANADA

Doorkeeper Paid $28,000 In Affluent Washington

OTTAWA (CP)—Capitol Hill in Washington may be living high off the hog but by comparison the affluent society hasn't arrived on Parliament Hill.

A recent Associated Press survey on affluence told of bursting payrolls and salary levels in which $20,000-a-year jobs are commonplace for employees of Congress.

Only a handful of the 1,500 or so souls who work for Parliament here top the $20,000 mark, compared with almost 500 drawing that sum or better in Washington.

The head doorkeeper of the House of Representatives makes $28,000 annually. The clerks of the Commons and the Senate here draw $24,840—top pay for parliamentary employees.

The other best-paying jobs here: Commons and Senate law clerks, $19,440 annually; Commons sergeant-at-arms and Senate gentleman usher of the black rod, $17,400; and clerk assistants in both chambers, $17,400. The parliamentary librarian makes $17,280.

The U.S.-Canada pay differences really show up in the lower echelons.

The House of Representatives employs 10 barbers at salaries of $6,000 a year and lets them keep the $1 charge for haircuts plus hefty tips. The U.S. Senate pays its barbers the same salary but doesn't charge for haircuts.

On Parliament Hill the three barbers earn $5,080 annually plus tips. Haircuts in the Commons shop cost 35 cents, and in the Senate shop 40 cents.

With parliamentarians facing ever-busier House of Commons and Senate sessions, and a tremendous upsurge in committee work, they would be hard pressed to get their locks trimmed without the service.

Legislators in the U.S. and Canada have their own post offices. The postmaster in the House of Representatives makes $24,500. In Canada the Commons postmaster gets up to $9,470.

The U.S. Congress pays its shorthand reporters $22,000 a year. Hansard reporters here with the same duties—recording verbatim the debates of the Commons and Senate—make up to $11,780 a year.

The U.S. survey showed messengers for Congress make nearly $10,000. Here the range is $2,930 to $4,980, with the top going only to "confidential messengers."

Routine office work in Washington brings salaries of up to $12,000. Here clerks make from $2,770 to a top of $8,940 for a supervising clerk.

Members of the House of Representatives are entitled to an employee earning a maximum of $2,850 and to other employees at lower rates. MPs get one secretary who earns a top of $5,560.

Congress and Parliament have one thing in common—soaring administration costs.

The House of Representatives' payroll increased by $6,400,000 last year and the U.S. Senate payroll is expected to rise 18 per cent.

The estimated administration cost of the Commons for the 1966-67 fiscal year is $6,865,900 and this is expected to rise almost $1,000,000 for the 1967-68 fiscal year. The Canadian Senate cost of administration is expected to rise some $180,000 to $1,360,500.

MORE WAYS THAN ONE
There are, they say, more ways than one to skin a cat.

I am afraid I know nothing about this abstruse subject but I feel quite certain that there are other ways than just one of bribing the electorate. Certainly there are more ways than one of getting oneself elected.

The Fascist people had an excellent idea as had the Communist rulers of an unnamed power. They just put one name of the ballot and there are centuries of the people voted for this fellow. Wonderful plan! Now, of course, in our vaunted democracy, we would not stoop to anything so foul as this sort of thing.

We go about matters in a very different manner. First of all, we secure as much money as possible from firms and individuals with axes to grind, and then we spread ourselves in the newspapers (which, I gather, make very little profit out of this sort of thing), on the radio and on television.

In short, being the dominant party we know what is best for the people and so we get out to insure that they believe this basic truth also. Almost on a par with that charming book 1984, we see to it that Big Brother watches over the electorate.

Big Brother's face is constantly before the foolish people and they are given to understand that only Big Brother's policy is any good.

Little Brother does not appear very often because he cannot afford the cost of newspaper, radio and television coverage; and so his policy is not so familiar to the gullible electorate.

The thing is, you must have money to do all this brainwashing of the electorate and there is only one real place to get that money and that is from the big business which wants your party elected.

True, there are dyed-in-the-wool party people who would give to the party funds no matter what happened; but big business is not so easily persuaded. I feel convinced that under our magnificent democratic system, guarantees are required. This is a day of guarantees, you know. You can hardly buy anything today which has not a high-sounding guarantee attached to it. You may have to pay for the guarantee, of course, but then you have to pay for everything, in the long run, don't you?

And so, you see, we in our democracy do not bribe anyone. We simply make it difficult for those who have no money to put across their program, and that eliminates competition, and that ensures election, unless, of course, some other party has about the same amount of money to spend, in which case we have what is called a deadlock, and that is very sad; for then the Big Boys do not necessarily get their own way.

This makes them very cross indeed because occasionally Little Brother finds himself in the interesting position by means of which he holds the balance of power. Thus it is possible that Big Brother is hostile with his own petard and Little Brother comes into his own. "God," says a certain hymn, "works in a mysterious way his wonders to perform." I know nothing about the theology back of this statement but it is rather fun to see Big Brother circumvented.

May I put forward once more (seeing that it has been bypassed without being noticed) my proposition by way of a reform? It is that every party which has any claim to recognition should be allotted the same amount of space and of time on the various media of information, and that the cost of this coverage should be borne (as is the present "free time" on radio and television) by the government, which means the people. Then everyone would have the same chance to present his views and the electorate and the electorate would have a fair opportunity of comparing the various programs; and there would be no brainwashing.

I know what brainwashing means! I am one of those rather flabby individuals who are inclined to be impressed by the arguments of the fellow whom I hear most and last. In our college debating society, I remember being torn this way and that by the amazing eloquence of the various debaters. Finally came the moment of decision. I had to choose. I had to vote. It was all very difficult. The "government" had had abundant time and if the "opposition" had had far less time, and had been able to speak only with a gag in its mouth.

Well, that's the way I see it. I think the present system reeks in much the same way, and with the same odor as did the elections at Eatenwills in Dickens' Pickwick Papers when voters were bribed outright or rendered helpless with free liquor so that they spent the time of voting in sullen sleep.

Sorry to disturb you, ladies and gentlemen, but someone, some time, needs to help you to look at the status quo for what it is—and it isn't nice!

Couple Of Pointers

One of the most often broken sections of the motor vehicle act according to a survey made by the Youth Division of the B.C. Safety Council is Section 156, regarding turning a car at an intersection.

The act requires that if you are turning to the right, you must keep as close as practical to the right side of the road and if entering a two lane or multiple lane street or highway, you must turn into the right hand lane. When turning left, you must drive next to the centre of the road and turn into the left hand lane. Always turn into the lane nearer you. Over 78 per cent of the vehicles checked turned into the wrong lane. Drivers seem just too lazy to spin the wheel that extra notch required to turn into the correct lane or to the correct side of the road.

Do you know the right way to stop at a stop sign? Ninety per cent of drivers either do not know, or do not care. Under Section 177, if there is a marked crosswalk or if there is a marked stop-line, the front bumper of your car must not pass the marking. The majority of drivers coast past way into the intersection. After you have come to a complete stop at the line, crawl ahead until you can see approaching traffic. If a police officer could be stationed by each stop sign, 90 per cent of the drivers would receive a ticket. Stop signs are for your protection as a driver and as a pedestrian. Obey them.

Liquid Diet Sources Not Hard To Find

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

I wouldn't have believed it! In this column a little while ago I mentioned the liquid diets that a few years were so much in vogue for reducing, but were originally devised for other purposes.

Ever since I've been getting inquiries from people asking where they can get these liquid diets, as if they were scarce or hard to find.

If your grocer doesn't carry them, your druggist doubtless does—and I don't have to stretch my memory to recall when these "tin-can diets" were a common topic of conversation all over the country.

I don't know how much they now are being used for reducing diets, reducing being so beset by fads that come and go, but the liquid diets still have various uses.

Dear Dr. Molner: How can I get a bracelet from Medicine? I have been very ill lately.—MRS. R.S.

Dear Doctor: My husband is diabetic. He doesn't drink but at times could pass for a drunk because of the disease. Where can we get a bracelet or other insignia identifying him as diabetic?—MRS. W.R.

Write to Medicine Alert, Turlock, Calif., 95380.

Any person with an ailment such as diabetes, epilepsy or similar problems, or under continued medication of a serious nature, such as anticoagulants, should carry some form of identification.

Medicine Alert is a non-profit group doing an excellent job at this. A card may well be carried in wallet or handbag, but some more obvious symbol is very useful. Such insignia can also be obtained from jewelry or drug stores, too.

Dear Dr. Molner: My wife says I isn't possible to be allergic to a food. Is this right or wrong?—E.L.R.

There may be some reason to think that poodles are less likely to cause allergies, but animal danders (hair, dust, flakes of skin) are a fairly common cause, and I know of no reason why poodles shouldn't be guilty, too.

Note to E.D.M.: Feeling, in children to stay at the table in general, is to avoid forcing till they finish the whole dinner. If they aren't hungry, they aren't. But—and this is important—no snacks or eating between meals after being excused. They wait until the next meal.

TEENAGE COMMENT

Individual Emergencies

When the thirteen miners were killed in the mine disaster at Natal in the Kootenays an emergency fund was set up for the grief-stricken families. A large amount of money was raised from the government and the citizens of British Columbia and the money was acquired very quickly. When a single miner or logger is injured and killed, no emergency fund is set up and usually no help whatsoever is given to the grief-stricken family.

I agree that an emergency fund should be set up for the disaster-stricken families but I also think that the family who has had an important member taken away from them in death caused through a mining or logging accident should also have the benefit of an emergency fund or have some type of provisions made for them. It does not seem quite fair that the bereaved family should not receive any compensation for the death just because he was the only one who was hurt and killed.

Single logging and mining incidents happen all the time but a big disaster happens only once in a while (thank goodness). Why shouldn't some type of compensation be set up for accidental deaths as well?

CANADA'S STORY

Prairie River Boats Could Almost Walk

By BOB BOWMAN

On May 5, 1885, the tide of battle on the prairies was beginning to turn against Riel and Dumont, Indian chiefs, Poundmaker and Big Bear. The river-steamers Northcote carrying men and equipment arrived at General Middleton's headquarters at Clark Crossing on the South Saskatchewan River. The Northcote had practically crawled all the way from Medicine Hat, and took a week to make the journey that can be covered in three hours by train.

The water in the river was low because the spring flood had not begun. The ship had to haul itself over sandbars. General Middleton wrote: "The long expected steamer arrived after a tedious voyage, most of which seems to have been made on land. All the steamers are stern-wheelers and have four strong square fastenings, two on each side of the bow, by a sort of hinge. These spars are lowered when the vessel runs on a shoal or sandbar, and the vessel is forced over; made to walk, as it were." The Saskatchewan River boats evidently were the forerunners of the amphibious tanks used in World War II.

One of the passengers on the Northcote was a captain Howard of the United States army. He had brought two Gatling guns to be used by General Middleton. The Gatling gun was an early type of machine gun, and Howard was to instruct the soldiers how to use it. He found the trip on the Northcote slow that he left the ship several times and went hunting for antelope.

However, the arrival of the guns encouraged General Middleton to resume his march toward Batoche headquarters of the rebel force. For some strange reason he divided his force of 800 men and had half march down the other side of the river which was difficult to cross. This had the effect of reducing his own strength by half. Riel and Dumont had spies among Middleton's men and were getting constant reports about their slow progress. One of the spies was Jerome Hehry, a freighter in Middleton's own wagon train.

Dumont, who acted as Riel's military leader, was able to arrange a hot reception for Middleton's force, but did not have enough men or ammunition to hold on for long.

Wilson Urged 'Hold Meeting' On Commonwealth Press Rate

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson has been urged to convene a Commonwealth conference before tripling the penny-a-word cable rate on news reports to Commonwealth countries from Britain.

Gavin Astor, council chairman of the Commonwealth Press Union, said in an interview today he sent Wilson a letter of protest against the proposed increase and urged further review through a Commonwealth meeting to include representatives of governments, press, radio and television.

The new rate of threepence a word, announced last Thursday, is to become effective Sept. 1. The existing penny-a-word rate has been in force since October, 1941.

Each Commonwealth government must make its own decision whether rates are to be increased on outgoing press cables destined for other Commonwealth countries. There have been indications Australia may also triple the rate. D. F. Bowie, president of the Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corp., has expressed doubt that Canada would raise its charge.

Brig. Lionel Cross, CPU secretary, also registered a protest in a BBC home service radio interview last Friday.

Cross said the Australian section of the Commonwealth Press Union has called on Prime Minister Harold Holt to support Astor's request to Wilson. The CPU hopes all other overseas sections will make a similar appeal to their own governments, Cross added.

The Guardian, in its news columns, says that the British government gave the Commonwealth secretariat no advance information before announcing the rate increase.

Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, currently is in Canada and is due to return here Thursday.

A British official said the decision to increase the rate was a unilateral action and there was no need for the British government to consult with Smith before the announcement was made. However other Commonwealth governments were advised.

British Labor 'Knocked Cold' If de Gaulle Bars ECM Entry

LONDON (CP)—A high ranking informant said today the Labor government realizes it may be knocked cold politically if President de Gaulle again imposes a veto against Britain's membership in the European Common Market.

The informant added, however, that the government feels that because of the pay-off in vastly expanded market opportunities, the fresh venture is worth the risk.

De Gaulle, in 1963, blocked Britain's membership bid and this appeared to react unfavorably in the 1964 British election which unsent the Conservatives, in power at the time.

The informant said the Labor administration has assumed de Gaulle will not readily oppose entry this time, though he may raise objections at some point during negotiations.

The Common Market is composed of six countries, of which France and West Germany are the strongest. The informant said five—all but France—have indicated support for Britain's membership, though Britain doubts Germany would stand up to France if de Gaulle decides to block Britain's membership.

WOULD BE IN TROUBLE

It is a fair assumption, he added, that if Britain again fails to gain entry, the Labor party may face extreme difficulties in the next general election, due in 1971.

Asked whether alternatives have been given serious consideration, he estimated there are about 20 alternatives but none are as promising as the Common Market. One of them, an Atlantic free trade

LBJ Lays Out His Scheme For Averting Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson today proposed to Congress voluntary means to settle the threatened U.S.-wide railway strike within 90 days, or a binding agreement after that if necessary.

Johnson said the proposal represents the slightest possible intrusion upon the process of collective bargaining.

He proposes a special five-man board for intensive mediation for the first 30 days between the railways and six shop craft unions.

If no agreement is reached by then, the White House board would hold hearings to determine whether the recommendations of an earlier White House board are fair, in the public interest and would protect collective bargaining.

The new presidential board would file its findings with Congress and the White House along with any modifications, if there is still no agreement by the 60th day.

If this does not bring a settlement by the 91st day, his proposals for settling the wage dispute would go into effect for up to two years, retroactive to last Jan. 1.

"I urge these railroads and unions to finish this job themselves," Johnson said.

"All Americans recognize that there is a management interest and a labor interest. But there comes a time when the interest of management and the interest of labor must be the public interest—a time when people must be fed, when soldiers must be supplied, when water must be kept potable, and when factories must not be allowed to close down for lack of materials."

His proposals would provide as a basis for settlement the recommendations of a special three-man mediation board he named earlier.

Recommendations include a six-per-cent general wage increase for the 137,000 workers involved over 18 months, and three five-cent wage raises for skilled workers at six-month intervals.

If You Already Look Wet You Are Right For Spring

NEW YORK (CP)—If you already look wet before you step outside on a rainy day this spring, chances are you're right in style.

The so-called wet look—the glistening vinyl that came in strong a couple of seasons ago—is more popular than ever, especially for rainwear for the younger set.

Cuddiecoat, for example, introduces vinyl rain suits, trading on the popularity of the pants suit. Victor Joris does one in red with a nautical flavor.

Anne Fogarty goes for full pyramid raincoats in black-and-white abstract print vinyl. Another black vinyl raincoat is embroidered in a beige abstract floral pattern.

Some designers are using vinyl rainwear with a costume dress. Malcolm Starr tops a black silk - and - worsted dress with a matching A-line raincoat in cire. Oscar de la Renta combines a cerise dress with a see-through clear vinyl coat sprinkled with glitter.

Cosmo Kismet of Montreal designed a vinyl raindress for the national spring collection sponsored by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. It's a combination of dots and stripes on white. The yoke is in black horizontal stripes, the skirt in vertical stripes with side scoop-inserts of white with black dots.

Even more important from the fashion viewpoint is the expanding selection of shower-proof rainwear. Almost any fabric can be processed to resist normal showers, even brocades and lames.

Weatherized cotton in one weave or another is probably the most popular of the natural fibres used. Originals of New York employs cotton with almost the texture of canvas in a leopard print, as in a swinging culottes rain costume with skirt-wide knee pants and a tailored jacket.

Lawrence of London incorporated these fabrics in glamor trench coats for showery evenings. He also used wrinkle-proof silk puffs. One was a black-and-white taffeta, another a glen plaid in lacquered cloque.

The rain pants suit appears in various shower-proof fabrics. Rainmaster of Montreal showed a scooter version in the national spring collection. In cotton poplin, it features short slacks and a big bold zipper.

Cuddiecoat of New York favors the rainwear pants suit in white cotton duck, in a safari style of slim pants and long jacket with large patch pockets on one breast and one hip.

Cotton duck is popular generally and other raincoat firms feature it in bright solids and brilliant plaids.

Westbank Fall Fair To Feature Special Centennial Classes

WESTBANK — A feature of Westbank Fall Fair this year will be special Centennial classes in which students as well as adults may participate. These classes include a decorated cake with a Centennial theme, and in the women's needlework classes an article with a Centennial motif, which is expected to bring forth a number of entries, including quilts or bedspreads.

Dolls dressed in period costume will be another attraction and miniature Centennial dresses will be looked for by the fair board. Then there's a class calling for Centennial posters open to any pupil of George Pringle Secondary high school; and housewives doubtless will be searching their own and neighbors attics and cellars too in the hope of unearthing some household article used in bygone days to enter in the class calling for these.

Then of course Westbank Centennial committee is offering prizes for old-time costumes depicting the fashions of 40 years ago and longer; which are to be worn at the July 1st Westbank celebrations as well as at the fair.

Meeting last week the Fair committee, headed by John Seltenrich, is busy planning Westbank's 28th Fall Fair, secretary of which is Mrs. J. H. Blaney. Directors include Mrs. Seltenrich; Mrs. C. H. Barnard, Mrs.

Carl Vince, W. B. Gore and Len Hanam. Originated by Westbank Women's Institute, the Fall Fair is now assisted by others of the community who have volunteered their services as the Fair has expanded. Held last year on September 2, prizes were offered in seven classes totaling 148 items, for which there were almost 500 entries, one from as far away as Berkeley, Calif., while the Coast and Okanagan points other than Westbank and its surrounding area were well represented. Special prizes were presented to winners of high aggregate points, as always, and these will be open for competition again this year.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER
 (Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass ?

What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠KJ72 ♥QJ8 ♦AQ5 ♣J63

2. ♠J8643 ♥7 ♦AK93 ♣QJ5

3. ♠KQ764 ♥AJ2 ♦865 ♣82

4. ♠AJ832 ♥943 ♦K74 ♣73

1. Three notrump. Since we have an opening bid facing an opening bid, there is no question that a game contract must be reached. The only problem is where the best game contract lies. Having indicated we can play spades, we now show face to notrump play also.

2. Partner is thus presented with the choice of passing if his hand permits notrump play, or playing the hand in a suit if it is unsatisfactory for notrump.

A two notrump rebid over two spades would not do justice to the hand. North would not be obligated to bid again. The risk of missing a game contract should not be run.

3. Four spades. The value of a hand rises or falls as the bidding progresses. Thus, if partner had opened the bidding with a heart, our hand would have immediately dropped in value because it is generally better to have length in partner's potentially best trump suit than shortage.

In the same vein, when North shows a spade fit by raising directly, our ragged spade suit assumes greatly added value. It is no exaggeration to say that the hand as a whole, with only 11 high-card points, grows in value to the equivalent of 15 points because of the fit in spades and clubs.

Game can therefore be undertaken at once. There is not much point to bidding the diamonds. To volunteer such information would aid the opponents far more than partner.

3. Three spades. Whether ten tricks can be made depends on the strength of partner's two spade bid, and we are not in very good position to judge this at the moment. The three spade bid asks North to go on with values beyond those already indicated. With minimum values, he is expected to pass.

4. Pass. Game is unlikely. The two spade bid in this sequence generally indicates about 14 or 15 points, part of which may be distributional in value.

Even with hands where North has 16 points, game is doubtful, since our hand is worth only about nine points. If we were to bid three spades, which is the most we could possibly do, the contract would be in danger whenever partner passed, and would likewise be in danger if partner carried on to four.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Stick to routine affairs on Saturday, and don't expect too much on any front. It will most likely be just an average day—nothing too disturbing, nothing spectacular. Family interests, however, will prove more pleasing than most.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, for the next year, it would be well to temper monetary ambitions with conservatism. Even though quite a few opportunities for gain are highlighted in your chart—notably during the first two weeks of August and between mid-September and mid-November (with October outstanding), you would not be justified in expanding along these lines through speculative ventures. This will be particularly important to remember during the first two weeks of September. Next good periods on the fiscal front: Early August, early December, next February and March. Best cycles for job advancement and recognition: July, September, early December, next January and February.

Personal interests will be livelier than material pursuits—especially for the balance of 1967. Between now and September 15th, the celestial spotlight will shine on romance and social activities, with many opportunities for making many new friends indicated—friends who will interest you socially, sentimentally or business-wise. A similarly good cycle will occur between November 15th and January 1st. Next good periods for heart affairs: Next April and May. Don't count too much on chances for travel during the balance of 1967, but the early part of next year will be highly auspicious.

A child born on this day will be extremely versatile and could succeed in almost any one of the creative or scientific professions, as well as in the business world.

TRY TO STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

A YALE SENIOR in a very snazzy sports car was speeding clickety-click down the New England thoroughway when a motorcycle cop drove up alongside and motioned him to the side of the road. As he took off his goggles and pulled out his summons book, the cop asked softly, "Tell me, Paul, are they coming by land or sea?"

A callow draftee was out on the rifle range for the first time and delivered a truly atrocious performance. When his card was brought in, it was so bad that he mopped his brow and groaned, "I think I'll shoot myself." His captain heard him, and suggested unfeelingly, "Better take two bullets."

The most unpopular officer on a carrier had enjoyed more leave a little too much, and was lurching visibly when he started up the gangplank. Suddenly, to the infinite delight of the sailors on deck, he pitched over the side. That's when a boatswain hollered, "Well, don't you gobs just stand there! Somebody throw him an anchor!"

A Rough Trip For The Best of Them But A Fireman Called It 'A Fun Ride'

By GORDON GRANT

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Paul McLennan of Toronto, who drives a fire department rescue truck for a living, showed his skill Thursday in handling small cars.

He drove a Lotus Cortina from Kelowna through mountains, mud, snow and ice and arrived here without a penalty point, holding onto first place in the centennial 4000 rally and giving a much-needed boost to the fortunes of the Ford manufacturers' team entry.

This was the second leg, on most difficult say some experts, of the 4,500-mile rally which winds up in Montreal next Wednesday. On the first leg, McLennan and his navigator, John Wilson, a mathematics professor at the University of Waterloo, Ont., had only two penalty points.

The trip from Kelowna took about 18 hours along roads made treacherous by snow and rain.

On a closed section in the Cascades, mountainous country in eastern British Columbia, McLennan and Wilson, who won the rally last year, sailed through without difficulty.

McLennan said the trip was "a fun ride" but two other closed sections were tough. Closed sections are speed events in which cars must travel between two points within a specified time. Penalty points are assessed for failure to meet the time limit.

McLennan said he experienced difficulty in deep mud on Corkscrew Mountain in east-central B.C. and that the Clearwater forest section was made difficult by deep snow in some parts.

Holding down second place with an unofficial five penalty points — scores arrived slowly because of the length of Thursday's run — was the privately-entered Lotus Cortina driven by John Smith of Kingston, Ont., and navigated by John Catto of Ottawa.

Karl Schultz and Paul Manson of Toronto, driving a Datsun for the Nissan team, were third with six points.

One of the biggest talking-points of the day was the misfortune of Anita Taylor of Rotham, England, and her navigator, Terry Gillies of Montreal, in their Ford-sponsored Lotus Cortina.

BLOWS TEAM CHANCE

Miss Taylor, a 23-year-old black-haired beauty, ran into trouble in the Cascades where a tire blew out. She drove on but had amassed a total of 542 points on the Kelowna-Kimberley leg.

But her problems were not over. Between Kimberley and here she experienced difficulty in thick mud and arrived at the overnight stop more than an hour late.

She declined comment on her experiences, saying that she was interested "only in getting some sleep."

Miss Taylor's troubles dealt a severe blow to the Ford team in its quest for a second manufacturers' team prize.

Roger Clark of London, the third member of the Ford team, remained in a strong position for individual honors with a clean run Thursday. He had 23 penalty points Wednesday.

CITROENS LEAD

No official figures were available on Ford's overall total, but it was believed Thursday night to be more than 1,000. The Citroen team continued to hold down first place while Datsun is second and American Motors third.

In the Coup des Dames — women's section — Rosemary Smith of Dublin and Ann Coombe of Toronto, her navigator, retained a strong hold on first place worth $1,000 with 28 penalty points Thursday and a two-day total of 56.

Diana Carter - Polivka of Toronto and Barbara Jean Jack of Burlington, Ont., in a Rambler American, were in second place with 633 points, of which 537 were picked up in Thursday's run.

Mrs. Carter-Polivka became stuck in deep mud and called for a tow truck. The tow truck became stuck also and a second tow truck eventually pulled both out. Mrs. Carter - Polivka also took a 2½-mile detour which cost her heavily.

Anita Taylor was in third spot in the women's section.

A total of 10 cars dropped out on the Kelowna - to - Red Deer run, clipping the field to 75 for today's journey to Saskatoon.

Mechanical difficulties caused nine to drop out while the 10th, a Saab driven by John Lally of Columbus, Ohio, and navigated by Rodman Nye of Youngstown, Ohio, rolled and was wrecked. Neither of the crew was injured.

They Travel Abroad Together But Must Live Apart At Home

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—South Africa, currently barred from the Olympic Games, told the International Olympic Committee Thursday it would send a massive team of black and white athletes if allowed to compete in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico.

Despite South Africa's internal color bar, Negro, colored and white athletes "can travel overseas together, can march together in identical uniforms as one unit under the same flag, and they can be housed in the same unit in the same Olympic Village," South African officials told the Olympic executive board.

Fourteen African countries have threatened to boycott the Olympic Games if South Africa is allowed to compete, despite South Africa's relaxation of racial discrimination in sport.

Olympic President Avery Brundage said no final decision will be made at the current conference here; the International Olympic Committee would send a special mission to investigate the racial question inside South Africa.

ROCKIES WERE NOT ROCKY

They are only kidding—they didn't need the map. The team of Paul McLennan and John Wilson raced through the second lap of the Centennial 4000 Auto Rally without picking up a single penalty point. The run from Kelowna to Red Deer and including the Cascade Mountains was supposed to be the most treacherous on the 4500-mile journey from Vancouver to Expo.

Penticton Out Tournament In

No word has come out of Penticton regarding which teams will continue in the Okanagan Valley Junior Soccer League. Probably, this will not be certain for another week.

But action in other sections will continue as scheduled.

In Division Two, Kelowna Helcats travel to Vernon for a game Saturday at 2 p.m. Helcats are undefeated in five starts. Penticton Hotspurs are the third team in this division.

In Division Four, Kelowna Monarchs travel to Vernon for a game Saturday at 2:30 p.m. The Coldstream-Penticton match has been cancelled.

In Division Five, Vernon Rovers meet Elite Eleven at City Park Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Two Kelowna teams—Panthers and Stars—tangle at City Park Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

In Division Six, Vernon Spurs meet Gems in Kelowna at City

Park 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The Vernon Spartans-Penticton game has been cancelled.

However, the Penticton Centennial Juvenile Soccer Tournament sponsored by the Penticton Knights of Pythias and slated for May 13, 14 will be played as scheduled.

Three trophies have been donated—two by the Knights of Pythias and one by the City of Penticton.

Teams entered are from three divisions of the Okanagan league.

From Division Two are Kelowna Helcats, Vernon Aces, Penticton Hotspurs and Midway.

From Division Four are Kelowna Monarchs, Penticton Rangers, Oryama Legionnaires and Vernon Warriors.

From Division Five are Kelowna Stars, Kelowna Panthers, Vernon Rovers, Penticton Beavers and Penticton Hornets.

Seven O'Clock Lightning Sparks Lions Over Legion

Bill Fahlman and Steve Koehle combined talents Thursday for a neat six-hitter as Lions bombed Legion 13-2 in a Little League game at Recreation Field.

Fahlman worked the first three innings and allowed one run. He fanned three batters, was touched for three hits but did not walk anybody.

Koehle pitched the final three and also yielded a single run. However, he struck out six, gave up a pair of hits and passed three.

The moundsmen got great support from the hitters. Don Turri had two hits in four trips to the plate as did Koehle. Ian Tostenson drove in three runs.

Harvey Kupper pitched well for Legion in spite of the high score. He gave up only nine hits, struck out nine and walked four but was the victim of some shoddy support from his mates.

Rodney Whetzel collected two hits in two trips for the losers.

Line score:
Lions 201 622-13 9 2
Legion 001 100-2 6 2

Bill Fahlman, Steve Koehle (4) and Joe Carignan; Harvey Kupper and Dean Grondahl.

Boys Club To Participate In National Swim Meet

Members of the Kelowna Boys' Club journey to Vernon Saturday for a swim meet at the Vernon Recreation Centre. Boys' Clubs from Vernon, Kamloops, and Penticton will also take part with events starting at 10 a.m. Results of the meet will be tabulated in conjunction with other Boys' Clubs across Canada also holding swim meets Saturday.

Events scheduled are: Free style, back stroke, relays, breast stroke, medley relay, butterfly, for the various ages from 10 to 17 years.

The Vernon Ladies' Auxiliary are hosting all swimmers to a bean feed to cap the day.

Joe Frazier Moving Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Heavyweight title contender Joe Frazier remained unbeaten today after 16 professional fights. The 23-year-old Frazier won a unanimous decision over George (Scrapp Iron) Johnson in 10 rounds Thursday night before almost 10,000 fans who paid $38-200 at the Olympic Auditorium.

The rugged Johnson, 26, withstood the best punches that Frazier could deliver and is the second fighter to go the distance with Joe since he turned pro.

The other one was Argentina's Oscar Bonavena, who fought Frazier last September in New York.

Johnson seemed content in the latter rounds to stave off a knockout and while hurt in the last round, did his own version of a victory dance when the final bell sounded.

Rugby Team In Training

The Kelowna Secondary School senior rugby team is preparing for the B.C. rugby championship tournament in Vancouver May 13, 14.

Besides practicing several times per week, the team has scheduled a game with the West Vancouver team for Saturday at City Park at 1:30 p.m.

The seniors won the Okanagan league with four straight victories over Kamloops, Penticton, Oliver and North Kamloops.

The team is coached by Larry Johnson, Jack Hatch and Doug Holland.

Giants Coming To Life But Dodgers Still Lose

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Hart may be the biggest Met fan since Casey Stengel. Not for what the Mets do to the opposition. Which isn't much. For what he does to them.

"I can't explain it," the San Francisco Giants' third baseman said. "I just go up there swinging."

If Hart could play all his games against the Mets he'd probably break all of baseball's most cherished records.

He had a homer and scored twice Thursday night in the Giants' 3-1 victory over the Mets, boosting his season average against New York to .400.

NETS ARE HIS PIE

• But that isn't surprising. Last season he hit .415 against the Mets, collecting nine of his 33 homers and 20 of his 93 runs batted in. The season before, eight of his 23 homers came off Met pitching.

His ninth-inning solo shot Thursday clinched it for the Giants.

• Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for a seven-run seventh inning and whipped Los Angeles Dodgers 9-3 while Houston Astros took Philadelphia Phillies 4-1 in the only other major league games played. Chicago Cubs at Atlanta Braves in the National League was rained out. There were no games scheduled in the American League.

... vengeance

Giants starting pitcher Mike McCormick, who had a three-hitter going into the eighth, got into a jam with two pinch singles after one was out. Frank Linzy came on, got the next man to ground into an inning-ending double play and retired New York in order in the ninth.

The Pirates vaulted into second place, two games back of idle Cincinnati. Maury Wills was the big gun against his old Dodger mates with two singles and a double.

His bases-loaded single drove in two runs and triggered the seven-run seventh inning that wiped out a 3-2 Dodger lead. Bill Mazeroski had a bases loaded triple in the big inning that saw 13 Pirates go to bat.

Three Houston right-handers, including winner Dick Farrell, combined for a five-hitter against the Phillies.

Three scratch singles and Jim Landis' double got two Astros runs in the first and Bob Aspromonte had a solo homer in the fourth.

IN MEMORIAL CUP

It's Been A Long Wait For Port Arthur Juniors

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—Port Arthur Marhs took positive, which is one reason the Thunder Bay Junior Hockey League champions are in the Memorial Cup final against Toronto Marlboros.

After a 19-year absence Port Arthur was given little chance to reach the best-of-seven Canadian championship series, which starts in neighboring Fort William Gardens Sunday. But coach Albert Cava and his players didn't agree with the forecasters.

Back in 1965-66, captain Ray Adduono said the Port Arthur drought would end in 1967. The high-scoring centre even correctly predicted the number of games it would take each playoff rival to fall—Port William Canadians in five games, Geraldton Gold Miners in three, Flin Flon Bombers in six and New Westminster Royals in five.

"All I've said all along was that it would take a good hockey team to beat us," said Cava. "We've been the underdogs in a couple of series and we expect to be again. That's the way we like it. They didn't expect us to get this far but here we are."

"We know we're meeting a team which proved itself best in the top junior league in the country (the Ontario Hockey Association). We expect the Marlies to be tough. But we'll show up."

Other series games will be played Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and if necessary, Friday, May 15, Tuesday, May 16 and Wednesday, May 17. All will be in 4,000-seat Gardens, already sold out for the first four matches.

WON THIRD TITLE

Adduono, a five-year veteran who centres Marhs' top line, led the Port Arthur offence with 80 points in 28 games, then fired 16 goals and collected 38 assists in 19 playoff contests. He will work with Tim McCormack, who has 24 playoff goals, and Chuck Kelner.

Kelner, from the Geraldton club, became part of the unit in the second game of the Western final against New Westminster and scored eight goals in three games.

He is one of six reinforcements from Port Arthur is allowed for the Memorial Cup series under Canadian Amateur Hockey Association equalization regulations. The others are defencemen John Ferguson of Fort William and Gerry Hart of Flin Flon and forwards Bon Busniuk of Fort William and Juha Wilding and Bill Fairbairn from Brandon Wheat Kings of the Manitoba league.

Defenceman Ken Rodgers, an import from British Columbia where he played in Kamloops for three seasons, blossomed into a leader during the playoffs. Other members of the blue-line corps include Bill McCormack, Jack Owehar and John Crocker.

Cava hasn't decided the formation of his other forward units but Wilding and Fairbairn, 100-point men in the MJHL, will likely unite with Busniuk.

The other forwards are John Healey, Rick Klukie, Dave Merritt, Cliff Stewart, Bob Kelly, Doug Parker and Vic Venasky.

Marhs feature a strong forechecking game and don't mind rough going.

MARLIES SPORADIC

TORONTO (CP)—Through-out the regular Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule and the post-season playoffs Toronto Marlboros were inconsistent.

They frequently looked like a club that had not mastered the fundamentals of hockey, but when the occasion demanded, they dramatically changed from an inept and clumsy bunch into a shifty, hard-hitting crew.

"They didn't play any better than they had to," was the comment coach Gus Bodnar made after one game, and this seemed to be true of the entire season.

The Marlboros have played 69 regular season and playoff games and won 37, lost 19 and tied 13. At the end of the 48-game OHA Junior A schedule, they were in third place, behind Kitchener Rangers and Niagara Falls Flyers.

After losing twice and tying once in their first four playoff games against Kitchener, the Marlboros won 10 of their next eleven games. They finished Kitchener with three wins in a row, swept Hamilton Red Wings aside in four straight, and disposed of Thetford Mines Canadiens in four games to win the Eastern junior title.

CHANGE TACTICS

In past years, the Marlboros recruited physically big players. But in their recruiting to replace nine players lost at the end of the 1965-66 season the club selected smaller, more versatile performers who have provided all the scoring punch and defence needed. The difference was simply desire and teamwork.

Leftwinger Gerry Meehan, playing his final junior year, was the team's leading scorer, with 68 points in the regular season, ninth in the league and 33 points behind the champion, Derek Sanderson of Niagara Falls Flyers.

Marlboros to watch in any game are: Meehan, Terry Cafery and Frank Hamill, who are always digging; Tom Martin, a big shooter; Mike Byers, great speed and a deceptive shift; and defencemen Brian Glennie, a noted belter and Mike Pelyk, dangerous rusher.

And finally, Bodnar has two goaltenders with exceptional ability.

Bob Whidden, in his final year of junior hockey, allowed only 24 goals for a 2.18 average in 11 playoff games. And 17-year-old Cam Newton allowed 32 goals in 10 playoff games, for an average of 3.20 goals against.

Sweepstake Tournament

The annual Ladies' Sweepstake Invitational Tournament starts Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club.

The number of entries is unlimited but 81 ladies from Penticton, Vernon, Kamloops, Nanaimo and Kelowna have announced intention to participate.

The ladies will play 18 holes. Prizes will be presented to the winners.

Scholarships Available

The Molson Brewing Company is now accepting applications for its hockey scholarship program in British Columbia.

Deadline for application is set for May 15 and scholarships will be awarded to students who show proven hockey and academic ability.

Trustees of the scholarship are Reverend David Bauer, Dr. Robert Hindmarch, Dr. Leo Margolis and T. H. English.

Last year a scholarship was awarded to Keith MacInnes of Summerland and a district winner is not an impossibility this time around.

DERBY ON TV

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC will provide live coverage across Canada of the Kentucky Derby race classic Saturday from Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky.

The telecast will begin at 2 p.m. PDT.

A Rough Way To Make Par

HOUSTON (AP)—Who but Arnold Palmer could spray drives into a lake, a ditch and heavy woods, then end with a three-under-par 58? He did, with six birdies and a 145-yard eagle.

Palmer, defending champion in the $115,000 Champions International, was only one-stroke off the leaders' pace of 67, set by Frank Beard, George Archer and Dan Sikes, as the tournament headed into its second round today.

Just two strokes off the pace was Toronto's George Knudson who fired a round of 69 with nines of 35 and 34. Al Balding, also of Toronto, was in with a 37-34 for 71.

Some called it a peculiar round. Palmer, who has won more money than any other man in golf, said "with the exception of three holes it was one of the better rounds I've played all year."

On the first tee, Palmer slammed a hooking drive into a ditch, took a penalty stroke, then went two over par after two putts.

While Palmer had his ups and downs, Jack Nicklaus had only troubles, soaring to a 77. He had a disastrous three over par on the 14th hole, driving first out of bounds and later into a lake.

Only 16 golfers broke par on opening day Thursday over the course which was soaked by scattered showers throughout the week.

Archer, Beard and Sikes found their putting touches to thrust them ahead. Sikes and Beard one putted seven greens each, and Archer, who dropped two from 50 and 60 feet, used one putt on six greens.

Harold Hennings, young South African, tied with Palmer at 69.

Four players including Knudson, Kermit Zarley, Don January and Ben Hogan, locked at 69.

Mounties Bob Meyer Tough Wins Second With Shutout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vancouver's Bob Meyer spaced five hits Thursday night to whitewash Hawaii 4-0 in Pacific Coast League play and chalk up his second victory of the season against no losses.

As he did so, Oklahoma City's Howie Reed held Tulsa to two hits in pitching the distance for a 4-1 victory, and Mike Hedlund went all the way for Portland's 4-2 victory over Seattle.

In other games, Indianapolis edged Phoenix 3-2, Spokane beat Tacoma 7-4, and Denver came out on top in a 12-10 slugfest with San Diego.

Meyer didn't walk a man and struck out six. Vancouver scored one run in the first when John Donaldson singled and came home on another. The winners got their other three counters in the third on singles by Jim Driscoll, Randy Schwartz and Gerry Reimer and a double by Sai Bando.

Reed walked one and struck out four for his fourth win against one loss. His mates gave him three runs in the second when Tommy Murray tripled, two men walked and Derrell Griffith hit another triple.

Spurs Duds In First Game Should Be Tougher Tonight

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP)—Both sides agree Calgary Spurs will be tougher for tonight's second game of the Allan Cup championship for Canada's senior hockey crown.

The Spurs, of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League, were outclassed by Drummondville Eagles 4-0 Wednesday night in the first game of the best-of-seven series. Tonight's game starts at 6 p.m. P.D.T.

"I'd like to see the Spurs play better hockey and they might be tough now," Roland Boldue, general-manager of the Eagles, said Thursday night. Coach Tony Schneider of the Spurs goes along with the assessment. "I think our club will look better than it did Wednesday night," said Schneider. "I think we'll be a lot tougher too."

Boldue said the Spurs' performances was a disappointment. "Frankly, they disappointed me. Our players got around them all night."

SPURS SCRIMMAGE

The Spurs held a brisk one-hour workout Thursday morning, concentrating on bringing the puck out of their own zone.

Right winger Carl Forster did not work out with the club. He suffered a foot injury Wednesday night and is a doubtful starter tonight.

Schneider said the injury was either a bruise or a chipped bone in the left foot. If Forster can't play Schneider will use John Hutton.

The Eagles, of the Provincial Senior Hockey League, did not schedule a practice session Thursday but five players, including goaltender Claude Cyr, turned out for a voluntary workout.

ANOTHER DURELLE

SOREL, Que. (CP)—Joy Durelle, former Canadian welterweight champion, used a fast left-right combination to knock out Alva Simmons of Charleston, S.C., in the third round of a scheduled 10-round junior mid-weight bout Thursday night, ing to be hard to beat.

An infantryman, crouching behind a tree under enemy fire, has his hand bandaged after taking a bullet during a close-range firefight with the Viet Cong in war zone C. After the medic finished the first aid the soldier continued fighting. His platoon needed him; the troops were suffering heavy casualties and were pinned down for several hours by the enemy.

Additions For Parkland Set For B.C. Group Told

VICTORIA (CP) — British Columbia will add about 1,300,000 acres to its public parks this year, the B.C. Wildlife Federation was told at its 11th annual convention here Thursday.

H. G. McWilliams, director of the provincial parks branch, predicted the increase in acreage and also pointed out that since 1945, funds spent on parks have grown from $28,000 to $3,750,000 this year.

India's Legislators Prepare For Election Of President

NEW DELHI (CP-AP) — More than 4,000 legislators at the state and federal level will elect this weekend India's third president since independence in 1947.

Vice-President Zakir Hussain, 70, is the candidate of the ruling Congress party. His main rival is Koka Subba Rao, 64, who retired as chief justice of the supreme court to accept nominations by a coalition of seven opposition parties.

Fifteen other candidates are in the race, but they figure it only from the standpoint of how many votes they take away from the major candidates.

Balloting takes place Saturday in New Delhi, the federal capital, and the state capitals of the 17 states. Involved are all members of Parliament and state legislatures—a total of 4,131 persons—who form the Electoral College.

Westmoreland Has A Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William Westmoreland stands a good chance of getting at least one more army division to strengthen his forces in Vietnam, government sources said today.

And he could gain two more divisions, depending on the course of the war in the weeks ahead.

Each additional division and its supporting elements would swell Westmoreland's force by 25,000 to 30,000 men.

Present plans calling for a buildup to about 470,000 U.S. servicemen in Vietnam by year's end were completed last fall. The U.S. force in Vietnam was last reported officially at 440,000.

Since last fall, the Communists have intensified their operations in South Vietnam and have built North Vietnamese regular army elements in the buffer zone area to about four divisions.

There is a marked contrast between the way the Communist buildup is viewed by state department officials on the one hand and by those at the defence department on the other.

State department officials warned late last week that a major North Vietnamese assault across the border may be imminent.

SHOWS CONCERN — But defence department officials, while concerned about the Communist buildup, say they anticipate no such invasion.

President Johnson took a low key approach Wednesday to questions about further troop commitments. He told a White House press conference he expects Defence Secretary Robert McNamara and Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs, to make recommendations to him in the coming weeks.

Comptroller Robert Anthony said in testimony Wednesday night the war will cost an estimated $21,000,000,000 the fiscal year beginning July 1. It cost $9,400,000,000 in the last budget year.

End of One-Man Rule Seen In Tough Teamsters' Union

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The end of one-man rule in the powerful Teamsters Union was reported late Thursday as control of the union was shifted from the national office back to powerful local leaders.

Truscott's Parents 'Stunned' By News That His Bid Fails

TORONTO (CP) — Steven Truscott's parents were stunned Thursday by news that their son's last hope for a reversal of his conviction on a murder charge had ended with a decision by the Supreme Court of Canada.

"God! How much evidence do they need?" said Doris Truscott as she sat in the living room of a Toronto home with her husband, Dan, and Isabel LeBourdais, the Toronto author whose book on the Truscott case sparked the Supreme Court review.

Dan Truscott, his eyes filled with tears, reached out to grip his wife's shoulder.

Mrs. Truscott, holding a handkerchief to her face, got up to go to a phone.

"I must tell him," she said. "Do you think they'll let me speak to him?"

"Yes, dial direct," said E. B. Jolliffe, young Truscott's defence lawyer, who also was present. "I think it has been arranged. He should be in the office."

Mrs. Truscott dialled Collins Bay penitentiary in Kingston, Ont., as her husband went out.

"Hello son. Have you heard the news?"

"Yes. Eight to one."

After a few seconds of silence, Mrs. Truscott said: "Keep busy, son. We're not quitting. We'll be down to see you soon. Do you want to speak to Isabel? Yes, she's here. So is Mr. Jolliffe."

"No, no, he can't come to the phone. He's taking it hard. Here is Isabel."

Mrs. LeBourdais took the receiver.

"Hello, boy, remember that promise I made you? I intended to keep it."

She hung up. She did not say what the promise was.

FATHER DETERMINED — Dan Truscott came back into the room.

"Did you call him? How is he taking it?"

"Fine, he's taking it well," said Mrs. Truscott.

"I'm not going to quit, by God," said Mr. Truscott. "I'll have lots of time. I'll go clean across the country getting signatures if I have to."

Mrs. Truscott dialed Collins Bay penitentiary in Kingston, Ont., as her husband went out.

"Fine, he's taking it well," said Mrs. Truscott.

"I'm not going to quit, by God," said Mr. Truscott. "I'll have lots of time. I'll go clean across the country getting signatures if I have to."

Mrs. Truscott dialed Collins Bay penitentiary in Kingston, Ont., as her husband went out.

"Hello son. Have you heard the news?"

"Yes. Eight to one."

After a few seconds of silence, Mrs. Truscott said: "Keep busy, son. We're not quitting. We'll be down to see you soon. Do you want to speak to Isabel? Yes, she's here. So is Mr. Jolliffe."

"No, no, he can't come to the phone. He's taking it hard. Here is Isabel."

Mrs. LeBourdais took the receiver.

"Hello, boy, remember that promise I made you? I intended to keep it."

She hung up. She did not say what the promise was.

FATHER DETERMINED — Dan Truscott came back into the room.

"Did you call him? How is he taking it?"

"Fine, he's taking it well," said Mrs. Truscott.

ELIGIBLE ELVIS FINALLY FALLS

Singer Elvis Presley gives his new bride, the former Priscilla Beaulieu, a kiss for photographers just after their wedding in Las Vegas. Presley, 32, and Miss Beaulieu, 21, met while he was stationed in Germany with the Army. It is the first wedding for each. They plan to live in Memphis, the hometown of both. They have not decided just where they will go for a honeymoon.

QUEEN FOR A MINUTE

Gilda Guiffreda of Italy carries a bouquet of flowers and parades before the other contestants after she was erroneously announced as the first runner-up in the Miss International Beauty Pageant in Long Beach, Calif. Behind her is Byron Palmer, master of ceremonies. Actress Eva Gabor, the show's hostess, meant to name Miss Israel, Yaffa Sharir, when she announced Miss Italy.

Coup In Greece Upsets Film Plans

LONDON (CP) — Canadian actor Christopher Plummer has landed in a tight corner as a result of the military takeover in Greece. Plummer, scheduled to start shooting a film version of Oedipus Rex in Greece, May 15, has learned his Greek co-star, Irene Pappas, will not be allowed into Greece because of her left-wing leanings. He now has to find a replacement before leaving for Athens Sunday or Monday.

SON THOUGHT SHE WAS 'SIS'

Actress Claudia Cardinale poses with her son, Patrick, 8, at her villa near Rome. Miss Cardinale said Patrick thinks she is his sister and now will have to explain the truth to him. Patrick's existence and Miss Cardinale's secret marriage to producer Franco Cristaldi last year were reported last week by Italian magazines. Cristaldi said the boy is not his. Miss Cardinale said Patrick was born in London in October, 1958. She did not identify the father.

He's Lassie's Best Friend

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lassie's best friend may well be William Beaudine, who has directed the talented pooch through 75 chapters of the long-run series and appears ready to direct 76 more.

Big Bill knows just how to wring the right emotion from Lassie and—just as importantly—how to bring the film in on budget or under.

"I've never gone over a shooting schedule in my whole career," he says.

And what a career it has been. At 75 Bill Beaudine claims to have been a director longer than anyone else in Hollywood.

"I directed my first picture starting on Oct. 12, 1915," he recalled. "It was a one-reel comedy called—get this—Minnie the Lion."

For more than 50 years, Beaudine has pursued his profession with only rare intervals between pictures. He is proudest of two Mary Pickford movies, Sparrow and Little Annie Rooney.

IGNORES ARTISTRY

"Long ago I quit thinking that every picture I did was going to be an Academy Award contender. I'm a commercial director; I know how to save money and get something on the screen."

"I let those arty guys shoot the scenes through chandeliers or from behind a wine glass. That's not for me."

Beaudine figures he has turned out 200 to 250 television shows—Naked City, Rin Tin Tin, Racket Squad, Walt Disney Presents. He receives from $1,200 to $1,500 for a half-hour show and nets an equal amount in residual payments for the first six reruns.

He still turns his hand at features. Last year he made two full-length features for Joseph E. Levine in 16 days. He erupts in laughter when he tells the titles: Jesse James Meets Frankenstein's Daughter and Billy the Kid vs. Dracula.

OLD HANDS JOIN

James Stewart and Henry Fonda have made their first Western together, Firecreek, directed by Vincent McEveety.

JAWS ALWAYS BITE
Rod Steiger chewed 263 packs of gum on camera while filming the role of the shark chief in the movie of the Night.

MOVIE highlights

There is a wide variety of entertainment coming to Kelowna theatres next week.

At the Paramount Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, May 8 and 9, Is Paris Burning? will be shown at 7 and 9:15 p.m. The setting is the summer of 1944 when the German occupation was threatened by advancing allied armies.

Wednesday to Saturday, May 10, 11, 12, and 13, Texas Across the River will be run a 7 and 9:05 p.m. and at a Saturday matinee at 2 p.m. Lost Planet will also be shown at the matinee.

At the Drive-In Theatre, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, May 6, 8 and 9, Country Music on Broadway will be seen.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, May 10, 11 and 12, When the Boys Meet the Girls, a song-and-dance musical will be shown.

Is Paris Burning?, stars among others, Leslie Caron, Kirk Douglas, Glenn Ford, Anthony Perkins, Simone Signoret and Orson Welles. The film is based on a book by the same name by co-authors Larry Collins and Dominique Lapierre and re-creates the attempt by Hitler in 1944 to destroy Paris.

The filming of this epic of 20th-century history made news itself during the past two years. The events of the Liberation of 1944 were re-created in the streets of today's bustling Paris under massive logistical plans more suitable to armies on the march than to an army of movie-makers. The fabled traffic of modern-day Paris was routed from key locations such as the swirling Place de la Concorde, and at the height of the summer travel season, Parisians and tourists were cleared from favorite landmarks to permit the motion-picture cameras to photograph those sites that had been doomed by Hitler to destruction in August of 1944. This all but impossible task was made possible through the co-operation of the French government, on orders from its summit. Only then could the street battle for the Liberation of Paris be re-fought with all its chilling realism.

This stunning detail, as in the book, serves only as the background for a grippingly human story: the conflict which tore the soul and conscience of Hitler's general, von Choltitz (played by Gert Frobe of "Goldfinger" fame), charged with the mad mission; the adventures of the men and women of the French Resistance as they out-tricked their captors; the roles played by the American and French armies and the leaders—men like Patton and Bradley—on whom the fate of Paris finally came to rest.

Texas Across the River is a comedy western and stars Dean Martin, Alain Delon, Joey Bishop, Rosemary Forsyth among others. The film has everything dear to a western, Indians, the cavalry, Texas and romance.

Country Music on Broadway is an all star country music spectacular.

A memorable touch is added when Hank Snow, one of the stars of "Country Music On Broadway," shows some home movies of Hank Williams singing.

The audience of newspapermen and disc jockeys also includes Hank Williams, Jr., who later sings some of his father's all-time favorites, including "Cold Cold Heart" and "I'm a Long Gone Daddy."

Snow, long an established favorite among country music performers, contributes his famous "Moving On" and "A Fool Such As I."

Others familiar to country music fans give outstanding performances. Porter Wagoner does "One Way Ticket to the Blues" and "A Satisfied Mind". Ferlin Husky sings "Wings of a Dove" and Country Music's Here to Stay". Roy Drusky sings "Second Hand Rose" and "Doubtful". Skeeter Davis' "Somebody Else on Your Mind" and "Something Precious". Stonewall Jackson offers his best-seller, "Waterloo". Bill Anderson sings "Still" and "Poor Folks"; and Audrey Williams sings "Jambalaya."

George Jones and Hank Jr. team up on "I Saw the Light." Merle Kilgore's "James River Man," Buck Owens' "Act Naturally" and "Down to the River." "New York Town" and "Flint Hill Special" by Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs. "Big Midnight Special" and "There's a Big Wheel" by Wilma Lee and Stony Cooper, and tunes by Zeke Dawson, the Wilburn Brothers and others round out the cast of favorite music stars.

The laughable Duke of Paducah, Old Joe Clark, the Anita Kerr Singers, Bobby Smith and the Stony Mountain Cloggers come in for some sparkling scenes.

The plot centers around a star-studded troupe of country and western personalities playing a stage show in New York, right on Broadway. The audience is taken back stage where the home movies of Hank Williams are shown by Hank Snow to Hank Williams, Jr.

When the Boys Meet the Girls has a show business headliner cast and a foot-tapping musical score, ranging from Gershwin song hits to Dixieland and Rock 'n' Roll. The cast includes Connie Francis, Harve Presnell, Herman's Hermits, Sam the Sham and the Pharaohs, Liberate and Louis Armstrong.

Others in leading roles in the laugh-loaded story of a wealthy playboy, pursued by a mercenary showgirl who is suing him for breach-of-promise and hiding from her on the campus of a backwoods Nevada college, include Sue Ane Langdon, Fred Clark, Frank Paylen and Joby Baker.

When Danny (Harve Presnell) tries to escape the clutches of black-mailing Tess (Miss Langdon) and enrolls at good old Cody College, it is only to again become romantically involved, this time with Ginger (Connie Francis), the local "mailman" whose father's unlucky penchant for gambling at a Reno casino is going to force them to sell their ranch. How Danny prevents this by turning the property into a luxurious dude ranch for divorcees and the various complications which ensue form a rollicking framework for the picture's delightful song and dance interludes and diverting comedy action.

Just Three Actresses Worthy Of Selection For Emmy Prizes

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In television's vast reservoir of dramatic series, three actresses were judged worthy of an Emmy award in the Television Academy's 1966 - 67 Emmy Award nominations.

The academy, in announcing its selections Monday, cited three for best actress in a dramatic series: Barbara Stanwyck of Big Valley, Diana Rigg of The Avengers and Barbara Bain of Mission: Impossible.

Winners in 33 categories will be announced June 4 in televised ceremonies.

Five dramatic actors were nominated: Bill Cosby and Robert Culp of I Spy, Ben Gazzara of Run for Your Life, David Janssen of The Fugitive and Martin Landau of Mission: Impossible.

For outstanding comedy series, the rock 'n' rolling Monkees won one nomination, joined by The Andy Griffith Show, Bewitched, Get Smart and Hogan's Heroes.

Competing for outstanding dramatic series are The Avengers, I Spy, Mission: Impossible, Run for Your Life and Star Trek.

Lucille Ball, a veteran Emmy winner, is again in the running as comedy series star, along with Elizabeth Montgomery and Agnes Moorehead of Bewitched and Marlo Thomas of That Girl.

Relative newcomers dominated honors for best actor in a comedy series: Don Adams, Get Smart; Bob Crane, Hogan's Heroes; Brian Keith, Family Affair; Larry Storch, F Troop.

Other nominations included: Variety Show—Andy Williams, Dean Martin, Hollywood Palace, Jackie Gleason, Smothers Brothers, Tonight Show.

Variety special—A Time for Laughter: A Look at Negro Humor in America, Bob Hope Christmas special, Dick Van Dyke special, Sid Caesar-Imogene Coca-Carl Reiner-Howard Morris special.

Dramatic Program — Love Song of Benny Kempinski, A Christmas Memory, The Glass Menagerie, The Final War of Ollie Winter, Death of a Salesman, Mark Twain Tonight.

Musical Program — Toscanini: The Maestro Revisited, Brigadoon, Frank Sinatra: A Man and His Music.

Children's Program — Charlie Brown's All - Stars, Discovery, It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown, Jack and the Beanstalk.

Single Performance by Actor — Alan Arkin, Love Song of Benny Kempinski; Lee J. Cobb, Death of a Salesman; Ivan Dixon, The Final War of Ollie Winter; Hal Holbrook, Mark Twain Tonight; Peter Ustinov, Barefoot in Athens.

Single Performance by Actress — Shirley Booth, The Glass Menagerie; Mildred Dunnock, Death of a Salesman; Lynn Fontanne, Julie Harris, Anastasia; Geraldine Page, A Christmas Memory.

Yemen Harems Win Battle

SANA'A, Yemen (AP) — The veiled women of the capital of Yemen have won their latest battle for feminine rights—they now are allowed to leave the harem and go to the movies.

Two days a week — Wednesday and Saturday—the women line up outside a theatre named after the Queen of Sheba to see the latest pictures from Cairo.

Most of them carry a thermos bottle of water under one arm and a bundle of narcotic "qat" leaves under the other to sustain them through the excitement. Police stand guard outside to make sure no men—or boys over six years old—sneak into the show.

The new rule for harem days at the movies was inadvertently sponsored by China.

When a Red Chinese spinning mill opened here last year and trained about 200 women workers — the first women factory hands in the history of Yemen, some of them wearing slacks—it set off a tornado of protest from the more conservative females of Sana'a.

To stop the complaints, officials decided to open up the movie theatre to female audiences so they could see what the rest of the world was like.

Yemen had no movies at all until 1963, and women in other Yemeni cities have been screen fans since then. But it was only in January this year that Sana'a permitted women audiences, except for once a year on Revolution Day.

Even now, the ladies must be home before sunset, because of a Yemeni proverb that says "it is not wise to let women or the devil wander the streets in the darkness."

Ginger Back In L.A. Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It's so nice to have you back where you belong . . ."

The familiar lyrics of Hello, Dolly had a special meaning last week when they were sung to Ginger Rogers at her Music Centre opening in the long-run musical. The first - night audience rose for a standing ovation to express joy that Ginger was back where she belonged.

"And this is where I belong," said the blonde star as she reclined beside the pool of her Brentwood house the following day.

"I've been an outdoor girl all my life, and to face a year and a half in New York was almost more than I could stand. The only thing that kept me going was Hello, Dolly. It's an amazing show: it does as much for the cast as it does for the audiences."

At an age—55—when most of her fellow stars of Hollywood's glamor era are semi-retired, or passed on, she continues purveying the Ginger Rogers image. She remains lovely and blonde (the red hair went long ago). She can still dance up a storm and play a set of tennis that would leave most men exhausted.

Hello, Dolly marks her return to the Los Angeles stage after a 35-year absence. In the early 1930s she starred at the Hollywood Pantages in a truncated version of Girl Crazy, in which she appeared on Broadway. Then began the long, distinguished film career highlighted by her dancing with Fred Astaire and by the Oscar for Kitty Foyle in 1940.

Her return will be brief. Next Ginger takes Dolly to San Francisco, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, with a possible stand in Chicago.

Movies For Expo Handed Approval

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said Tuesday that movies may be shown outdoors on the Expo 67 site and children may accompany parents to all motion picture theatres on the site. Mr. Johnson told the legislature that current Quebec legislation outlawing outdoor movies and restricting certain films to adults only is in the process of being changed.

HOPE COLLECTS HONORS

Bob Hope has received seven honorary degrees, two presidential medals and 500 awards and citations for his movie and humanitarian work.

FAMED FOUNTAIN

Violence, Color, Serenity Seen In Expo Art Centre

MONTREAL (CP)—There is violence, color, serenity and passion packed into Expo 67's $35,000,000 international fine arts exhibition, but only a small portion of the huge crowds milling through the fair's turnstiles seem to be interested.

Museums, galleries and private collectors in 20 countries have sent some of their most prized works for display at the art exhibition.

The 200 works, on view at a two - storey gallery near the main entrance, date from thousands of years ago.

Officials of the fair estimated Tuesday night that about 33,300 persons have visited the gallery since Expo opened April 28.

The displays are insured for $35,000,000.

ARTISTIC SPLENDOR

The exhibition ranges in subject matter from a classic self-portrait done by the 17th-century Dutch master Rembrandt in 1669 to the wild portrait of a woman done in a grotesque and slapdash spirit by the contemporary United States painter William de Kooning.

From the Egypt of 2560 B.C.

comes a plaintive dual statue of a man and woman seen side by side in enduring partnership; from the France of 1894 a study of war by the "primitive" painter Henri Rousseau.

Among pictures sent from the Soviet Union is Cezanne's famous Mount Ste. Victoire, with the mountain's brute form looming massively toward the viewer.

The effect of such realism is offset by the dazzling colors and intricate geometries of a 1951 work by Fernand Leger. This depicts the pneumatically-swollen figures of puppet men, typical of Leger, at work in a maze of scaffolding.

The gallery offers peaceful moments too, with the serenity of its Oriental exhibits, the gentle, sunlit touch of Pierre-Auguste Rodin and the ingenious playfulness of painters such as Paul Klee and Joan Miro.

VAN GOGH PROMINENT

The tempestuous world of Vincent van Gogh is on display too, as well as the exoticism of Gauguin and the saintly intensities of Georges Rouault and El Greco.

Man With 'Box Office Touch' Says Escape A Healthy Word

NEW YORK (AP) — "You have to make your own trip to the moon," said Ross Hunter.

"There are no free rides." Hunter is the youthful-looking former high school English teacher who now, as one of Hollywood's most successful producers, is becoming known as "the man with the box office touch."

Of the 36 films he has made since 1952, only two were financial duds, which he feels is something of a record.

"I have made a profit of $167,000,000 for the studio," he remarked.

"Why? Because I don't make pictures for myself. I make them for the public. And what they want is to be entertained."

"Escape is a healthy word. And people are looking for a clean look in entertainment."

"European producers feel they have to give a slice of life. We feel that people get that slice of life in their own homes."

"I feel that if you subject people to a neurotic film about despair, they go back to their homes and watch television, dull as that may be."

Hunter's latest bonanza is Thoroughly Modern Millie, a madcap musical romp through the 1920s starring Julie Andrews, James Fox, Mary Tyler Moore, Carol Channing, John Gavin and Beatrice Lillie.

His next opus is The Public Eye, which Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton will get $1,000,000 each to star in.

Ross, who trims his budgets sharply but is willing to throw money around like confetti to get the actors he wants, used to be an actor himself. After a spell of teaching English in Cleveland, he put in a hitch in the army, then took a film test and scored high.

He acted in 19 pictures—remember Sweetheart of Sigma Chi and Louisiana Hayride?—and pushed his income up to $1,000 a week. His career was interrupted by an illness that sidelined him for a year.

When he recovered nobody seemed to remember him. Unable to find work as an actor, Ross returned to teaching at $37.50 a week, spent his evenings studying producing.

STROKE OF LUCK

"It was the best thing that could have happened to me," he recalled. "I don't miss acting, and I don't think the public misses my acting either. I wouldn't be an actor again for anything in the world."

In a few years, as producer, Hunter climbed quickly back up the Hollywood ladder. His films include such hits as Magnificent Obsession, Imitation of Life, Tammy, Tell Me True, Flower Drum Song, and Pillow Talk.

Among the stars he helped launch or bring to new peaks of popularity are Rock Hudson, Sandra Dee, Natalie Wood, Doris Day, Lana Turner, Hayley Mills and Debbie Reynolds.

A man intoxicated with creativity, Ross likes to handle every detail of a picture. He is well aware that he's riding an unusual success wave, but says that if he should run into a series of flops he still has a resource available.

"I can always go back to teaching," he said cheerfully.

Weird African and New Guinea masks abound as do creations by ancient Mesopotamian and Sudanese sculptures which, despite the millennia that have passed since their creation, have a decidedly modern ring.

The ability of works to go on shocking was exemplified by the half-frightened gasps of a few gallery visitors as they approached a picture painted in 1892 by Edvard Munch.

The picture's title is deceptively serene—Spring Evening in Karl Johan Street, Oslo.

The work in fact portrays a procession of death's heads through a quietly sinister thoroughfare of the Norwegian capital.

a monumental evening of exciting entertainment for the many attending. Again, we say, our musical heritage is in very good hands as these young people proved. Apparently, this weekend will see the Kelowna students as guests of the South Burnaby guests of last weekend in Kelowna.

Starting with last Friday evening right through until Monday evening, the community theatre was alive with activity and attendance was record. Though I had two tickets for the Music Canadiana presentation, it was impossible to attend as seats were absolutely filled both nights. That's nearly 2,000 attending to hear and see the nearly 400 elementary school students performing. Sunday evening, I was fortunate to see the KLT one act play previewed for a "collection only" audience. Maybe the theatre group should try this on for size again when performing. The record attendance was generous in numbers, applause and from what I could see in the hats at the door there were lots of long green contributions hanging over the sides.

The play, Harlequinade, which competes in the Okanagan Zone Festival this weekend in Vernon, (opened last night following Vernon) was evidence of good total team work by KLT players. No other comment at this point, but, I must mention that Gordon Ray was the surprise talent of the show. Haven't seen Gordon do anything before in this area. But, he's a real find when it comes to flare for subtle comedy. He's got smooth confident style and pace too. The Briton that he is comes through with a feeling for lines and projection that marks him apart from ordinary in my book.

Speaking of spoken word entertainment, it's good to hear Lily Harper will be adjudicating speech arts at the Music Festival starting next week in Penticton. The 41st event will have excellence of ability from this adjudicator. She has a wealth of training and professional credits from Vancouver Radio-TV and Holiday Theatre circles, as well as being a member of Canadian TV and Radio Artists, Actors Equity and the B.C. Adjudicators Guild. This Vancouver College drama teacher will also conduct a work shop for teachers at festival's end May 13 in Penticton. Speech is a thing we need to keep from falling into the discard, so here's to good attendance by teachers to the session.

FM FOLK TIME

I happened to notice the distinctly improved sound of FM Folk Time heard Friday evenings at 8:10 to 9 p.m. the last several weeks. Gloria has the assignment to produce this pleasant 50 minutes of smooth folk music and song. She has added lustre to the program that makes for good listening to CJOV-FM for weekend openers. Symphony Hall following this tonight at 9 will present Prokofiev concertos by Eric Leinsdorf violinist, and then pianist Loria Hollander perform concerto No. 5. Boston Symphony orchestra accompaniment makes this a memorable experience listening to both artists. Friday night's Dimensions in Jazz is ideal for jazz buffs who appreciate classical stylings in smooth jazz. Hear it tonight at 10:15 to 11. It is also featured Friday afternoons at 4:15 to 5 p.m.

Saturday's FM Saturday Night opens at 6 p.m. with Music For Dining for one hour. This program can be counted upon to please until Symphony Hall's spotlight takes the stage of sound FM at 7 p.m. Saturdays. Tomorrow evening Ravel's Bolero and other works will be heard played by the Paris Conservatoire Orchestra. David Allen picks up the popular standards tempo again at 8:10 following the FM World News for ten minutes. Dave plays music standards of the modern mood and spices with comedy dialogues until midnight, providing a CBC News break at 10 p.m.

Apparently Sunday morning FM listeners appreciate the Whatever Is Pattie Duke Doing In Movie Valley Of Dolls?

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What's Pattie Duke doing in the movie Valley of the Dolls?

The question may be asked when fans learn that the star of The Patty Duke Show on television now is starring as the dissolute, pill-chomping singer Neeley O'Hara in the film version of Jacqueline Susann's best seller.

Here's how the character is described in movie ads: "Neely O'Hara—to her, stardom was too many minks, martinis and men."

And there she was portraying a scene under the direction of Mark Robson in which she seduced her press agent, played by Martin Milner. What will her youthful TV followers think when they see her new role? "I hope they won't see it," she replied. "It's not going to be the kind of picture that tender minds should see."

Patty Duke, 20, a professional actress for 13 years, would like to continue in her craft. To do so, she realizes she must escape the double-images of the teen-age types—she played dual roles of The Patty Duke Show.

"I liked doing the series in the first couple of years," she said. "Then it was my whole life; I had no romances, I wasn't going to school. And the show was very helpful in getting me over that difficult period for a young performer—the transition from child to grownup roles."

"The third year of the series was a drag. By that time I was married (to TV director Harry Falk) so I had an outside life of my own. I wasn't at all sorry to see the series end."

For almost a year after the show went off the air, Patty experienced something she had never known: a private life.

Presley Emerges For While Then Drops Back Out Of Sight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elvis Presley emerged this week from the seclusion of his private life. He celebrated his marriage to Priscilla Ann Beaulieu at a lavish Las Vegas reception, then disappeared once more.

The wedding apparently caused no wave of consternation among the Presley fans. Most of the girls who screamed at his gyrations 10 years ago now are wives and mothers.

Unlike some popular favorites who are willing to share their personal lives with the public, Elvis has led an almost Garbo-like existence in recent years.

He makes no personal appearances, gives only perfunctory interviews on movie sets. His records and movies are his only exposure to the public. While his record sales have been overshadowed by the Beatles and other more recent favorites, he is still a top seller. And he can still earn $1,000,000 a piece for the three films he makes annually.

Elvis had met Priscilla when he was 24 and she was 14. He was stationed with the U.S. Army in West Germany, where her father was an air force officer.

FINISHED SCHOOL

Priscilla finished high school in Memphis, remaining there during Presley's forays to Hollywood for film making. After graduating, she joined his entourage, living in the mosque-like Bel Air mansion Elvis rented during filming.

"She used to drive around Memphis in a fire-engine red Corvair convertible," said a Memphis reporter. "She wouldn't say whether Elvis had bought it for her.

"In fact, she wouldn't say much of anything. She was as hard to get to as Elvis."

During the last year, his fellow movie workers thought Elvis was inclining toward matrimony, especially since several of his close followers were marrying and starting families.

Monday, Elvis married Priscilla, and posed nervously for photographers.

Once Again Train Pulls Up For 'New Great Train Robbery'

HUSBANDS-BOSWORTH, England (CP)—Once again the mail express pulls up with a screech of brakes in the middle of the night on a lonely stretch of track in rural England.

Once again, as on that dramatic August night in 1963, masked robbers swoop out of the darkness to overpower the driver, break into the bullion car and get away with more than £2,500,000 in banknotes.

This time, however, the Great Train Robbery that resounded round the world is being carried out with the full co-operation of the law and British Railways. The re-enactment, taking place on a closed branch line in Leicestershire — the actual hold-up happened in a cutting near Cheddington, Buckinghamshire—is for a movie expected to make $8,000,000 if it gets worldwide distribution, $500,000 more than the original loot, the bulk of which is still missing.

The movie, for which the leading actor, Stanley Baker, put up some of the money, presented its makers with a host of legal headaches. Would they, for instance, be sued by members of the original cast, now serving hefty jail sentences? Two QCs and three U.S. lawyers were called in by Baker and co-producer Michael Deeley to shape a script free from the threat of writs.

They emerged with a formula that sets a near-documentary, 25-minute reconstruction of the actual robbery in a fictitious framework speculating on events before and after the crime. Names of characters were changed several times.

"We had to make sure there was no risk of accidental identification with anyone," said Baker, who plays the gang leader. "The characters involved in the film are in no way based on the characters who took part in the Great Train Robbery."

Otherwise no detail has been spared in Robbery to make the trappings authentic. The mail train loaned by British Railways is hauled by an express engine identical to the one pulling the Glasgow-Euston express Aug. 8, 1963. Offers of advice from persons claiming knowledge of the events of that night have been flowing in to the film company.

"If everyone who came forward was really in the know, the line must have been pretty crowded that night," commented Deeley.
